Johnson is a native of Buffalo. He joined the telephone company in 1928 as a representative in the Buffalo business office after attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mental Patient Admits Slaying Student Nurse, 21

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP) —State police said today a patient at the Kalamazoo State Mental Hospital had confessed the sex slaying of 21-year-old nurse Marilyn Kraai last night.

The patient is Louis Maurice Smith, 18, committed to the hospital from Parchment, a Kalamazoo suburb.

State Police Detective Chief Victor Beck said Smith confessed before taking a scheduled lie detector test.

BECK SAID Smith admitted luring the girl to a basement hydropherapy room on the pretext of regaining a pack of playing cards he had left there.

He told Beck the girl volunteered to accompany him to the room to recover the cards.

Beck said Smith told him he killed Marilyn after the assault, then took her key ring and flushed it down a toilet. Afterwards, he locked the door to the room, Beck said Smith related.

Marilyn's body was found in a search after other nurses became alarmed at her failure to keep a supper date with them.

Coroner Horace Cobb said the tall, blonde nurse had been criminally assaulted and then strangled with a red hospital issue necktie.

Most of the girl's clothing had been ripped off, but state police said there were no signs of a struggle in the laboratory where her body was found. The only outward sign of violence was the girl's bruised throat.

POLICE SAID a hospital employe and a patient have been taken into custody for questioning. Both may take lie detector tests today. Their names were withheld.

Hospital officials said a ring of keys known to be in Miss Kraai's possession yesterday was missing. The keys gave access to several hospital laboratories and wards.

Police said her assailant may have taken the keys and then locked the girl in the laboratory to prevent early discovery of her body.

Riley Stewart, Kalamazoo police detective, theorized Miss Kraai may have gone to the laboratory to pick up something she forgot.

HER ASSAILANT apparently grabbed her by the throat and forced her into the laboratory, he said.

Hospital employes told police they heard no screams or indi-

James McGovern, 35, of Rt. 3, Plattekill Turnpike, Newburgh, was injured about 6:15 p. m., Friday when the automobile he was driving struck the rear of a parked car in Port Ewen, state police reported.

McGovern was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition today was reported as "apparently fair." Troopers said he suffered a possible fractured leg.

According to the state police report, McGovern's automobile struck the rear of an automobile owned by John Houghtaling of Port Ewen, which was parked along Route 9W facing south. There was no arrest.

Philippines Get Typhoon Threat

Manila, Nov. 6 (AP)—Typhoon warnings were hoisted in the central Philippines today as a new tropical disturbance roared out of the Pacific with increasing intensity.

The Manila Weather Bureau said the typhoon was located 400 miles east-southeast of Samar island. Winds had stepped up to 115 miles an hour at the center.

The typhoon is scheduled to move west-northwest at 16 miles an hour and hit the central Philippines Sunday afternoon. If it maintains its present course, it will pass directly through the Philippines.

Plattekill Lions Vote Busy Slate In Service Plans

The town of Plattekill Lions Club has adopted a crowded calendar of activities for ensuing months dedicated to community service and welfare.

At a meeting last week in Primo's Hotel, Ardonia, the club adopted a program designed to widen the circle of community relations and to "be of service," according to President Andrew Montrola.

ONE ASPECT of the ambitious program established by the club is its Blind Seal drive for aid to the blind. The club has set up a "king-sized" seal stamp sale and voted also to contribute to established research agencies for the elimination of blinding eye diseases. The seal drive committee is headed by Frank Ruggiero.

A holiday fruitcake sale is now in progress, proceeds of which will be used to further the work of the welfare committee. The old-fashioned homemade fruitcake, cut in slices, comes in attractive three-pound packages.

The club is also engaged in activities for the welfare of the elderly residents of the Marion Beaver Nursing Home on Route 32, Plattekill. President Montrola heads the committee in charge.

A smorgasbord and dance has been set for Feburary, 1955, with Mr. Fiscella as chairman, assisted by Nick Eicherl, Joe Hasbrouck, Joe Singara and Frank Figlio.

Montrola also appointed a committee of "sparkplugs" to head up a community safety program, cooperating with the Plattekill Town Board for the welfare of the community. He pointed out that the intersection of Route 44-55 and the Tucker's Corner road has posed a problem for the community and expressed the hope that town officials might consider the placing of a traffic signal at that point.

THE FOLLOWING committee chairmen were appointed: Attendance, Fred Fowler; publicity, Ony P. Orlowski; finance, Stanley Carmen; membership, Celestino Garcia; convention, "Cap" Merton E. Jenkins; program, Joe Singara; blind committee and sight conservation, Frank Ruggiero; bulletin editor, John Barbatsuly; boys and girls committee, Freston Atkins; civic improvement, Hilton Thorne; community betterment, Thomas Apuzzo; education, Charles Martino; safety, Robert Zirger; United Nations, Anthony Palazzo; greeter, Frank Figlio; agricultural committee, Eber Coy, and construction and building, Joseph Hasbrouck.

Status in Doubt

Oklahoma City, Nov. 6 (AP)—Allie Reynolds said today no further surgery will be needed on his injured finger, but the New York Yankee pitcher won't know whether his baseball days are over until the wound heals. A plastic surgeon removed the stitches from a grafting operation yesterday. He pronounced the operation a success. Whether the deep cut suffered in a shower room accident will cripple the index finger on his pitching hand remains to be seen.

Ex-Altar Boy Admits He's Killer

Confesses Brutal Slaying of Girl, 15

Norwood, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Myron Lane said today that a 15-year-old boy has confessed the brutal slaying of Geraldine Annese, also 15, whose body was discovered yesterday in a garage near her home.

Lane named the boy as Peter Makarewicz, Jr., a former altar boy, who lived around the corner from the Annese home.

The boy re-enacted the crime before a horrified crowd including his own mother.

LANE SAID the boy admitted after all-night questioning he killed the girl in the cellar of her own home and then dragged the body to the garage.

The boy was taken to the garage handcuffed and was set upon by the dead girl's stepbrother, Philip Derose. Derose grabbed Peter and had to be pulled away by police.

Derose shouted at the boy.

"My sister's dead. My mother's dying."

The girl's mother has been grief-stricken since learning of the tragedy.

The bruised body, unclad except for her socks, of the vivacious high school sophomore was found yesterday on the dirt floor of a two car garage in the back of her home.

Her clothing had been strewn about the garage and the contents of her handbag dumped over her body. Dist. Atty. Myron Lane labeled her death "murder by a sex fiend."

POLICE SAID the girl's beaded necklace had been pulled tightly around her neck and there were bruises on her face and neck. A torn fingernail indicated a struggle and she suffered a brain hemorrhage possibly from a blow on the head, an autopsy disclosed.

Six attempted attacks on girls have been reported to police in Norwood in the last two months.

About 7:30 Friday morning the shocked shriek of Joseph Freund, 26, who rented a stall in the garage, and the frantic cries of Geraldine's older sister, jolted the awakening neighborhood.

Both had seen the body almost simultaneously.

Freund spied it as he went to enter his car. The sister, Mrs. Lena Garmeau, 22, saw it as she looked out a window of the Annese's second floor apartment.

New York Is Probing City Graft

Police Are Warned After Fire Scandal

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Probes of the city's fire, police, and housing departments were under way today.

Graft charges against three Brooklyn fire battalion chiefs expanded into the police department yesterday, with Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams denouncing "traitors" under his command.

Adams, at promotion ceremonies for 18 officers, told more than 300 of his high-ranking subordinates:

"I'll mince no words . . . we have traitors, men and women, who have not hesitated to sell us out for a few dollars. They have not only degraded themselves but have attempted to destroy us all through their conduct.

"It will not go on if I have to emasculate this entire department.

"I DON'T CARE if it is $2 from a peddler or the highest possible amount. This is your responsibility as well as mine, and you will be held entirely accountable."

In other developments yesterday, Housing Commissioner Bernard J. Gilroy said an inquiry was under way "to see if any of our people were involved" in graft-taking charged against the three firemen.

Newspapers reported today that the health and air pollution control departments were under scrutiny, but details and official comment were lacking.

SUSPENDED Thursday were fire battalion chiefs Daniel M. Regan, Joseph A. Massaro, and Edward T. Heeg — all charged with accepting $100 each from Atlas Demolitions, Inc., who wished to use fire to speed a building demolition job in Brooklyn.

Massaro and Regan, quoted as saying the money was "forced on them," filed for retirement. Heeg denied the charges and is subject to departmental trial.

Massaro and Regan both were

Public Is Urged To Visit Schools

Education of Youth Is Called Most Important Problem of Nation by Superintendent Laidlaw

Parents and citizens of Kingston have been invited to visit local schools during American Education Week, November 7-13, in order that they may better understand what goes on in the schools and what constitutes the program being provided for the children, Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw said today.

Laidlaw said the invitation to visit the schools was being extended by teachers and principals. Theme of the week is Know Your Schools.

"ILLITERACY and ignorance are forerunners of totalitarianism. We must not only maintain our present educational standards, but we must raise these standards to the end that no boy or girl living anywhere in America shall be denied an education," Laidlaw stated.

He pointed out that education of youth was one of the most important problems facing the American people today.

"We are told that the population of our country is increasing yearly at the rate of better than two and a half million people. The Bureau of Census predicts that by 1960 the population of the United States will reach the 175 million mark. At least 20 per cent of the population are children who are attending school. Each year about half a million more children are attending school.

"THE COMMUNITIES in the United States do not have either the buildings, the teachers or the equipment with which to provide an adequate educational program for these millions of children. The success of our American way of life depends on an educated and informed people.

"Let's make America strong by making our public schools strong and effective."

Six CYO Leaders In Ulster County Will Be Honored

Six Ulster county leaders will be among 85 persons honored by the Catholic Youth Organization of New York in ceremonies at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

THE FOLLOWING local leaders will receive special tribute in exercises to be held at Cathedral High School, 50th street and Lexington avenue, New York: Mrs. Gertrude Reis, St. Peter's Church, recipient of the Kingston-Ulster county award; Ken McNeil, St. Peter's; Mrs. Val Skop, Immaculate Conception; Vincent de Luca, St. Mary's; Joseph Bianco, St. Peter's, Rosendale, and Francis McCullough, St. Colman's, East Kingston.

THE EXERCISES will conclude the observance of National CYO Week in this area.

Very Rev. Msgr. Harold S. Engel, CYO archdiocesan director, will present gold and enamel medallions to these outstanding adult volunteers who have assisted in the promotion of parish, county and program activities for the youth of the Archdiocese of New York over the past several years. Recipients hail from eight different counties within the jurisdiction of the Archdiocese.

THE CYO PROGRAM Award, major presentation of the day, will go to Thomas Nelleny, of Sacred Heart parish, Manhattan, and to Thomas Cunningham, of St. Raymond's parish, Bronx. Messrs. Nelleny and Cunningham have assisted in the development of the CYO archdiocesan program activities including cultural, social and athletic events for the past 12 years.

Fifty-three persons who have served their parish CYO unit continuously for two years or more and have contributed to a better understanding of CYO participation in community affairs will receive the Parish Award.

THE COUNTY volunteer medal, for at least five years service on the county level directed toward the organization and supervision of inter-parochial CYO activities, will be conferred on 30 youth leaders.

The CYO volunteer awards program was initiated last year in conjunction with the National CYO Week observance and presentations are to be made annually at this time. It has been designed to recognize the contributions of volunteer leaders in behalf of youth; to encourage their further efforts; to interest others in becoming youth leaders in this era so marked with a growing problem of delinquency among our young people.

Hunter Is Found

Pittston Farm, Maine, Nov. 6 (AP)—Stephen Fitzmaurice, 44, of Long Island City, N. Y., lost for 24 hours while hunting in the wild Seboomook Lake area, has been found, Sheriff Martin J. Gallant said today. Fitzmaurice became lost Thursday and was found yesterday. Game wardens came out of the woods today and reported that the hunter was in good condition despite his night in the open. The weather was not severe.

To Study Hiking Truck Insurance

Albany, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Public Service Commission, taking note of higher awards in highway negligence suits, will make an inquiry into whether truckers should carry more insurance.

The PSC announced today it would look into the question of increasing the minimum amounts of liability insurance that motor carriers now are required to hold. The first hearing will be held here Jan. 6 before examiner Morris A. Goldfarb.

A commission order dated June 12, 1951, now requires truck operators to carry liability insurance policies with face values of at least $10,000 for death or injury to any one person, $20,000 for death or injury caused by any one accident, and $5,000 for property damage.

Faces Old Blame of Cut in Aid

Claim His Stand Helped Reds Win

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The security firing of veteran diplomat John Paton Davies Jr., on grounds of "lack of judgment, discretion and reliability" threatened today to become a new center of public controversy.

Secretary of State Dulles, announcing the immediate dismissal of a key figure in the 10-year-old dispute over America's China policy, said yesterday he was affirming the unanimous findings of a special five-man security board.

DULLES SAID neither he nor the panel found Davies "disloyal in the sense of having any Communist affinity" or that he "consciously helped" an enemy of this country.

Dulles announced he had decided with the board that "the continued employment of Mr. Davies is not clearly consistent with the interests of national security."

Davies, who had been cleared eight times under the Truman administration, announced he would not contest the decision. But he declared in a statement he did not feel there were "adequate grounds" for it. Davies had been in the diplomatic service for 23 years, much of the time in China.

HE GOT the word of his dismissal in a personal talk with Dulles and shortly before a public announcement.

That announcement did not say on what specific points in Davies' record the decision against him was based.

State Department officials were unable to say what effect the dismissal would have on Davies' retirement benefits, but the New York Times said he loses those benefits which he otherwise could have collected in less than four years.

Davies, 46, has been a diplomatic and political storm center for years because during the latter stages of World War 2 he urged that the United States take firm steps to "revitalize" Nationalist China's Kuomintang Party. State Department records already published show that Davies said such a revitalized party could be a "significant force" in a coalition government with the governments—a measure designed to forestall outright Red conquest.

If Chiang Kai-shek's Party could not be "reformed," Davies said, the U. S. should consider trying to win cooperation from the Chinese Reds.

DAVIES has been criticized by those who claim U. S. officials did not do enough to help the struggling Chiang regime while it still was on the mainland and that this contributed to

Opposing Sides Expect Harmony in Congress

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — Two Senate veterans of opposing parties agreed today that President Eisenhower, a Republican, and the new Democratic Congress should be able to work harmoniously for the next two years.

Sen. Russell of Georgia, one of the several southern Democrats in line for important committee chairmanships when his party takes over, sounded this theme in discussing prospects for legislation under the new 84th Congress.

"Of course there will be some differences," he said in an interview, but the Democrats will give Eisenhower "fair consideration on his legislative proposals even though we may have some of our own to offer."

SEN. AIKEN of Vermont, Republican chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee in the present Congress, seemed equally optimistic in telling a reporter:

"We had a pretty good record in the 83rd Congress and I think there's a good chance of improving it in the 84th."

The two legislators spoke after the new post-election harmony wave yesterday had surged forward at least for the time being, on two fronts.

In Washington, Eisenhower called congressional leaders of both parties to a Nov. 17 conference on foreign policy. Senate majority leader Knowland of California said after a White House conference that the President was eager to get on "cordial and constructive" working terms with the Democrats.

IN BONHAM, Tex., Democratic leaders Rep. Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson held a 15-minute meeting in Rayburn's law office. Johnson said afterwards that the Democratic program "will be to maintain a united country rather than to have constant bickering among different groups." Rayburn said cooperation "will depend quite a bit on the administration's attitude — "if they want to go along with us the Democratic House will go full force on all measures for the benefit of the country."

Both made it plain, however, that they will oppose the administration where they think necessary and that they don't like what Rayburn said was Republican speechmakers' labeling of the entire Democratic party as "pinks" and "leftwingers."

RAYBURN will be speaker of the House when the new Congress organizes in January. Johnson, also a Texan, is slated to succeed Knowland as Senate majority leader.

Johnson flew back to Washington last night with plans for calling a meeting of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee and a meting of ranking Democrats who will assume committee chairmanships. He also had a

Long Examination May Force 6-Day Week in Sheppard Case

Cleveland, Nov. 6 (AP)—A judge's threat of a six-day week for the Sheppard murder trial faced defense lawyers today because of their long cross examination of the state's first witness.

As the third week of the trial closed yesterday, Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan still was doggedly questioning Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson, who had been on the witness stand all day long. And the attorney said he would need at least another hour Monday to complete his cross examination of the witness.

Judge Edward Blythin announced that if the pace of the trial continued to be slow, he might start holding Saturday sessions. Court sources later said the six-day court week is never popular with either lawyers or jurors.

THE GRUELING session yesterday appeared to be just about as hard on the defendant, Osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, as on the witness. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death last July 4 after an affair with a pretty hospital technician, fought had for control as some of the more gruesome details of the slaying were discussed.

While Corrigan was questioning Adelson about the wounds found on the battered head of Marilyn Sheppard, the defendant gripped his hands, bit his lip and closed his eyes tightly. His mouth quivered as the attorney used such terms as "splintered bones," "split skull" and "layers of bone."

Deputy Sheriff James Kilroy, who sits beside the defendant in the courtroom, leaned over at one point with a look of concern on his face and asked Sheppard a question. Without opening his eyes, Sheppard shook his head in the negative.

Stock Market's Post-Election Advance Most Vigorous in More Than 16 Years

New York, Nov. 6 (AP) — The election was a happy surprise for the stock market this week, and it celebrated with the most vigorous advance in more than 16 years.

On the way up it broke into new high ground for the past 25 years and touched off a major showing of bull market enthusiasm.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $4.90 on the week, the most that the average has gained in a single week since the final week of June, 1938. That was when the nation was shaking off the king-size setback that started in the recession of 1937.

THE POST ELECTION drive ahead took the average up to a new 25-year high of $139.10, the best since Oct. 17, 1929, and it closed the week only slightly under that level.

The week before the election, caution was rampant in Wall street, and the stock market made its greatest weekly decline in 14 months. Everyone was playing it safe for the election.

A change of heart came over the market on Monday, however, and prices advanced moderately. The talk then was that the election had been discounted too much in advance.

Wednesday morning found Wall street interpreting the election results this way — the Republicans have done much better than expected, and the administration's policy will not likely be affected despite Democratic gains.

The market started off easily enough with modest gains. They kept getting wider as the day wore on. At the final bell, the market on average had advanced more than at any time since Sept. 5, 1939, the day the German hordes were sweeping across Europe at the start of World War 2.

YOU WILL RECALL that just a week ago there were warnings that the market was in a critical position because it had been unable to break through into new high ground. Well, the Wednesday surge ahead took the market on average right up to within a shade of the highest levels of the year.

Thursday, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through the old 1954 high and continued on up with plenty to spare.

As a matter of fact, the vigor of the second-day rise surprised most in Wall Street. Immediately after the election, people all over the country rushed their buying orders into the market. Institutions and pension funds also got into the market. There were reports of European buying. And orders from these same sources continued to pour in.

Friday is a day when a reac-

Central Agrees To $2,000 Award

A $1,000 verdict awarded by a jury in Supreme Court in an action for negligence brought by Harvey DeGroat of 450 Washington avenue against the New York Central has been increased to $2,000.

DeGROAT, DRIVER of a car which was struck by a train at the TenBroeck avenue crossing in September 1953, sued for personal injuries and damages to his car. He was awarded $1,000. Harry Gold, attorney for DeGroat, moved before Justice Donald S. Taylor to set aside the verdict on the grounds it was insufficient. Justice Taylor reserved decision on that motion and later granted the motion to set aside the verdict unless the defendant railroad stipulated to increase the award to $2,000. The railroad agreed and judgment has been entered in that sum.

WITH DeGROAT that evening was Mrs. Lillian DuMond of Kingston who was fatally injured. An action was brought by her husband for damages. In that action, in which Michael Nardone appeared as counsel, the jury returned a verdict of $590.50, the approximate amount of the expenses to DuMond. This verdict was awarded on the theory that DuMond and his wife had not been residing together and therefore he had suffered no loss, except the expenses involved. Justice Taylor denied the motion so far as DuMond was concerned from the bench, reserving on the motion of DeGroat.

Vincent G. Connelly appeared for the railroad.

ONE ASPECT of the ambitious program established by the club is its Blind Seal drive for aid to the blind. The club has set up a "king-sized" seal stamp sale and voted also to contribute to established research agencies for the elimination of blinding eye diseases. The seal drive committee is headed by Frank Ruggiero.

A holiday fruitcake sale is now in progress, proceeds of which will be used to further the work of the welfare committee. The old-fashioned homemade fruitcake, cut in slices, comes in attractive three-pound packages.

The club is also engaged in activities for the welfare of the elderly residents of the Marion Beaver Nursing Home on Route 32, Plattekill. President Montrola heads the committee in charge.

A smorgasbord and dance has been set for Feburary, 1955, with Mr. Fiscella as chairman, assisted by Nick Eicherl, Joe Hasbrouck, Joe Singara and Frank Figlio.

Montrola also appointed a committee of "sparkplugs" to head up a community safety program, cooperating with the Plattekill Town Board for the welfare of the community. He pointed out that the intersection of Route 44-55 and the Tucker's Corner road has posed a problem for the community and expressed the hope that town officials might consider the placing of a traffic signal at that point.

THE FOLLOWING committee chairmen were appointed: Attendance, Fred Fowler; publicity, Ony P. Orlowski; finance, Stanley Carmen; membership, Celestino Garcia; convention, "Cap" Merton E. Jenkins; program, Joe Singara; blind committee and sight conservation, Frank Ruggiero; bulletin editor, John Barbatsuly; boys and girls committee, Freston Atkins; civic improvement, Hilton Thorne; community betterment, Thomas Apuzzo; education, Charles Martino; safety, Robert Zirger; United Nations, Anthony Palazzo; greeter, Frank Figlio; agricultural committee, Eber Coy, and construction and building, Joseph Hasbrouck.

Newburgh Man Hurt In Auto Accident

James McGovern, 35, of Rt. 3, Plattekill Turnpike, Newburgh, was injured about 6:15 p. m., Friday when the automobile he was driving struck the rear of a parked car in Port Ewen, state police reported.

McGovern was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition today was reported as "apparently fair." Troopers said he suffered a possible fractured leg.

According to the state police report, McGovern's automobile struck the rear of an automobile owned by John Houghtaling of Port Ewen, which was parked along Route 9W facing south. There was no arrest.

Status in Doubt

Oklahoma City, Nov. 6 (AP)—Allie Reynolds said today no further surgery will be needed on his injured finger, but the New York Yankee pitcher won't know whether his baseball days are over until the wound heals. A plastic surgeon removed the stitches from a grafting operation yesterday. He pronounced the operation a success. Whether the deep cut suffered in a shower room accident will cripple the index finger on his pitching hand remains to be seen.

Long Examination May Force 6-Day Week in Sheppard Case

Cleveland, Nov. 6 (AP)—A judge's threat of a six-day week for the Sheppard murder trial faced defense lawyers today because of their long cross examination of the state's first witness.

As the third week of the trial closed yesterday, Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan still was doggedly questioning Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson, who had been on the witness stand all day long. And the attorney said he would need at least another hour Monday to complete his cross examination of the witness.

Judge Edward Blythin announced that if the pace of the trial continued to be slow, he might start holding Saturday sessions. Court sources later said the six-day court week is never popular with either lawyers or jurors.

THE GRUELING session yesterday appeared to be just about as hard on the defendant, Osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, as on the witness. Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death last July 4 after an affair with a pretty hospital technician, fought had for control as some of the more gruesome details of the slaying were discussed.

While Corrigan was questioning Adelson about the wounds found on the battered head of Marilyn Sheppard, the defendant gripped his hands, bit his lip and closed his eyes tightly. His mouth quivered as the attorney used such terms as "splintered bones," "split skull" and "layers of bone."

Deputy Sheriff James Kilroy, who sits beside the defendant in the courtroom, leaned over at one point with a look of concern on his face and asked Sheppard a question. Without opening his eyes, Sheppard shook his head in the negative.

Ex-Altar Boy Admits He's Killer

Confesses Brutal Slaying of Girl, 15

Norwood, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP)—Dist. Atty. Myron Lane said today that a 15-year-old boy has confessed the brutal slaying of Geraldine Annese, also 15, whose body was discovered yesterday in a garage near her home.

Lane named the boy as Peter Makarewicz, Jr., a former altar boy, who lived around the corner from the Annese home.

The boy re-enacted the crime before a horrified crowd including his own mother.

LANE SAID the boy admitted after all-night questioning he killed the girl in the cellar of her own home and then dragged the body to the garage.

The boy was taken to the garage handcuffed and was set upon by the dead girl's stepbrother, Philip Derose. Derose grabbed Peter and had to be pulled away by police.

Derose shouted at the boy. "My sister's dead. My mother's dying."

The girl's mother has been grief-stricken since learning of the tragedy.

The bruised body, unclad except for her socks, of the vivacious high school sophomore was found yesterday on the dirt floor of a two car garage in the back of her home.

Her clothing had been strewn about the garage and the contents of her handbag dumped over her body. Dist. Atty. Myron Lane labeled her death "murder by a sex fiend."

POLICE SAID the girl's beaded necklace had been pulled tightly around her neck and there were bruises on her face and neck. A torn fingernail indicated a struggle and she suffered a brain hemorrhage possibly from a blow on the head, an autopsy disclosed.

Six attempted attacks on girls have been reported to police in Norwood in the last two months.

About 7:30 Friday morning the shocked shriek of Joseph Freund, 26, who rented a stall in the garage, and the frantic cries of Geraldine's older sister, jolted the awakening neighborhood.

Both had seen the body almost simultaneously.

Freund spied it as he went to enter his car. The sister, Mrs. Lena Garmeau, 22, saw it as she looked out a window of the Annese's second floor apartment.

New York Is Probing City Graft

Police Are Warned After Fire Scandal

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Probes of the city's fire, police, and housing departments were under way today.

Graft charges against three Brooklyn fire battalion chiefs expanded into the police department yesterday, with Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams denouncing "traitors" under his command.

Adams, at promotion ceremonies for 18 officers, told more than 300 of his high-ranking subordinates:

"I'll mince no words . . . we have traitors, men and women, who have not hesitated to sell us out for a few dollars. They have not only degraded themselves but have attempted to destroy us all through their conduct.

"It will not go on if I have to emasculate this entire department.

"I DON'T CARE if it is $2 from a peddler or the highest possible amount. This is your responsibility as well as mine, and you will be held entirely accountable."

In other developments yesterday, Housing Commissioner Bernard J. Gilroy said an inquiry was under way "to see if any of our people were involved" in graft-taking charged against the three firemen.

Newspapers reported today that the health and air pollution control departments were under scrutiny, but details and official comment were lacking.

SUSPENDED Thursday were fire battalion chiefs Daniel M. Regan, Joseph A. Massaro, and Edward T. Heeg — all charged with accepting $100 each from Atlas Demolitions, Inc., who wished to use fire to speed a building demolition job in Brooklyn.

Massaro and Regan, quoted as saying the money was "forced on them," filed for retirement. Heeg denied the charges and is subject to departmental trial.

Massaro and Regan both were

Public Is Urged To Visit Schools

Education of Youth Is Called Most Important Problem of Nation by Superintendent Laidlaw

Parents and citizens of Kingston have been invited to visit local schools during American Education Week, November 7-13, in order that they may better understand what goes on in the schools and what constitutes the program being provided for the children, Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw said today.

Laidlaw said the invitation to visit the schools was being extended by teachers and principals. Theme of the week is Know Your Schools.

"ILLITERACY and ignorance are forerunners of totalitarianism. We must not only maintain our present educational standards, but we must raise these standards to the end that no boy or girl living anywhere in America shall be denied an education," Laidlaw stated.

He pointed out that education of youth was one of the most important problems facing the American people today.

"We are told that the population of our country is increasing yearly at the rate of better than two and a half million people. The Bureau of Census predicts that by 1960 the population of the United States will reach the 175 million mark. At least 20 per cent of the population are children who are attending school. Each year about half a million more children are attending school.

"THE COMMUNITIES in the United States do not have either the buildings, the teachers or the equipment with which to provide an adequate educational program for these millions of children. The success of our American way of life depends on an educated and informed people.

"Let's make America strong by making our public schools strong and effective."

Six CYO Leaders In Ulster County Will Be Honored

Six Ulster county leaders will be among 85 persons honored by the Catholic Youth Organization of New York in ceremonies at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

THE FOLLOWING local leaders will receive special tribute in exercises to be held at Cathedral High School, 50th street and Lexington avenue, New York: Mrs. Gertrude Reis, St. Peter's Church, recipient of the Kingston-Ulster county award; Ken McNeil, St. Peter's; Mrs. Val Skop, Immaculate Conception; Vincent de Luca, St. Mary's; Joseph Bianco, St. Peter's, Rosendale, and Francis McCullough, St. Colman's, East Kingston.

THE EXERCISES will conclude the observance of National CYO Week in this area.

Very Rev. Msgr. Harold S. Engel, CYO archdiocesan director, will present gold and enamel medallions to these outstanding adult volunteers who have assisted in the promotion of parish, county and program activities for the youth of the Archdiocese of New York over the past several years. Recipients hail from eight different counties within the jurisdiction of the Archdiocese.

THE CYO PROGRAM Award, major presentation of the day, will go to Thomas Nelleny, of Sacred Heart parish, Manhattan, and to Thomas Cunningham, of St. Raymond's parish, Bronx. Messrs. Nelleny and Cunningham have assisted in the development of the CYO archdiocesan program activities including cultural, social and athletic events for the past 12 years.

Fifty-three persons who have served their parish CYO unit continuously for two years or more and have contributed to a better understanding of CYO participation in community affairs will receive the Parish Award.

THE COUNTY volunteer medal, for at least five years service on the county level directed toward the organization and supervision of inter-parochial CYO activities, will be conferred on 30 youth leaders.

The CYO volunteer awards program was initiated last year in conjunction with the National CYO Week observance and presentations are to be made annually at this time. It has been designed to recognize the contributions of volunteer leaders in behalf of youth; to encourage their further efforts; to interest others in becoming youth leaders in this era so marked with a growing problem of delinquency among our young people.

Hunter Is Found

Pittston Farm, Maine, Nov. 6 (AP)—Stephen Fitzmaurice, 44, of Long Island City, N. Y., lost for 24 hours while hunting in the wild Seboomook Lake area, has been found, Sheriff Martin J. Gallant said today. Fitzmaurice became lost Thursday and was found yesterday. Game wardens came out of the woods today and reported that the hunter was in good condition despite his night in the open. The weather was not severe.

To Study Hiking Truck Insurance

Albany, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Public Service Commission, taking note of higher awards in highway negligence suits, will make an inquiry into whether truckers should carry more insurance.

The PSC announced today it would look into the question of increasing the minimum amounts of liability insurance that motor carriers now are required to hold. The first hearing will be held here Jan. 6 before examiner Morris A. Goldfarb.

A commission order dated June 12, 1951, now requires truck operators to carry liability insurance policies with face values of at least $10,000 for death or injury to any one person, $20,000 for death or injury caused by any one accident, and $5,000 for property damage.

Opposing Sides Expect Harmony in Congress

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP) — Two Senate veterans of opposing parties agreed today that President Eisenhower, a Republican, and the new Democratic Congress should be able to work harmoniously for the next two years.

Sen. Russell of Georgia, one of the several southern Democrats in line for important committee chairmanships when his party takes over, sounded this theme in discussing prospects for legislation under the new 84th Congress.

"Of course there will be some differences," he said in an interview, but the Democrats will give Eisenhower "fair consideration on his legislative proposals even though we may have some of our own to offer."

SEN. AIKEN of Vermont, Republican chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee in the present Congress, seemed equally optimistic in telling a reporter:

"We had a pretty good record in the 83rd Congress and I think there's a good chance of improving it in the 84th."

The two legislators spoke after the new post-election harmony wave yesterday had surged forward at least for the time being, on two fronts.

In Washington, Eisenhower called congressional leaders of both parties to a Nov. 17 conference on foreign policy. Senate majority leader Knowland of California said after a White House conference that the President was eager to get on "cordial and constructive" working terms with the Democrats.

IN BONHAM, Tex., Democratic leaders Rep. Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson held a 15-minute meeting in Rayburn's law office. Johnson said afterwards that the Democratic program "will be to maintain a united country rather than to have constant bickering among different groups." Rayburn said cooperation "will depend quite a bit on the administration's attitude — "if they want to go along with us the Democratic House will go full force on all measures for the benefit of the country."

Both made it plain, however, that they will oppose the administration where they think necessary and that they don't like what Rayburn said was Republican speechmakers' labeling of the entire Democratic party as "pinks" and "leftwingers."

RAYBURN will be speaker of the House when the new Congress organizes in January. Johnson, also a Texan, is slated to succeed Knowland as Senate majority leader.

Johnson flew back to Washington last night with plans for calling a meeting of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee and a meting of ranking Democrats who will assume committee chairmanships. He also had a

Stock Market's Post-Election Advance Most Vigorous in More Than 16 Years

New York, Nov. 6 (AP) — The election was a happy surprise for the stock market this week, and it celebrated with the most vigorous advance in more than 16 years.

On the way up it broke into new high ground for the past 25 years and touched off a major showing of bull market enthusiasm.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $4.90 on the week, the most that the average has gained in a single week since the final week of June, 1938. That was when the nation was shaking off the king-size setback that started in the recession of 1937.

THE POST ELECTION drive ahead took the average up to a new 25-year high of $139.10, the best since Oct. 17, 1929, and it closed the week only slightly under that level.

The week before the election, caution was rampant in Wall street, and the stock market made its greatest weekly decline in 14 months. Everyone was playing it safe for the election.

A change of heart came over the market on Monday, however, and prices advanced moderately. The talk then was that the election had been discounted too much in advance.

Wednesday morning found Wall street interpreting the election results this way — the Republicans have done much better than expected, and the administration's policy will not likely be affected despite Democratic gains.

The market started off easily enough with modest gains. They kept getting wider as the day wore on. At the final bell, the market on average had advanced more than at any time since Sept. 5, 1939, the day the German hordes were sweeping across Europe at the start of World War 2.

YOU WILL RECALL that just a week ago there were warnings that the market was in a critical position because it had been unable to break through into new high ground. Well, the Wednesday surge ahead took the market on average right up to within a shade of the highest levels of the year.

Thursday, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through the old 1954 high and continued on up with plenty to spare.

As a matter of fact, the vigor of the second-day rise surprised most in Wall Street. Immediately after the election, people all over the country rushed their buying orders into the market. Institutions and pension funds also got into the market. There were reports of European buying. And orders from these same sources continued to pour in.

Faces Old Blame of Cut in Aid

Claim His Stand Helped Reds Win

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The security firing of veteran diplomat John Paton Davies Jr., on grounds of "lack of judgment, discretion and reliability" threatened today to become a new center of public controversy.

Secretary of State Dulles, announcing the immediate dismissal of a key figure in the 10-year-old dispute over America's China policy, said yesterday he was affirming the unanimous findings of a special five-man security board.

DULLES SAID neither he nor the panel found Davies "disloyal in the sense of having any Communist affinity" or that he "consciously helped" an enemy of this country.

Dulles announced he had decided with the board that "the continued employment of Mr. Davies is not clearly consistent with the interests of national security."

Davies, who had been cleared eight times under the Truman administration, announced he would not contest the decision. But he declared in a statement he did not feel there were "adequate grounds" for it. Davies had been in the diplomatic service for 23 years, much of the time in China.

HE GOT the word of his dismissal in a personal talk with Dulles and shortly before a public announcement.

That announcement did not say on what specific points in Davies' record the decision against him was based.

State Department officials were unable to say what effect the dismissal would have on Davies' retirement benefits, but the New York Times said he loses those benefits which he otherwise could have collected in less than four years.

Davies, 46, has been a diplomatic and political storm center for years because during the latter stages of World War 2 he urged that the United States take firm steps to "revitalize" Nationalist China's Kuomintang Party. State Department records already published show that Davies said such a revitalized party could be a "significant force" in a coalition government with the governments—a measure designed to forestall outright Red conquest.

If Chiang Kai-shek's Party could not be "reformed," Davies said, the U. S. should consider trying to win cooperation from the Chinese Reds.

DAVIES has been criticized by those who claim U. S. officials did not do enough to help the struggling Chiang regime while it still was on the mainland and that this contributed to

Central Agrees To $2,000 Award

A $1,000 verdict awarded by a jury in Supreme Court in an action for negligence brought by Harvey DeGroat of 450 Washington avenue against the New York Central has been increased to $2,000.

DeGROAT, DRIVER of a car which was struck by a train at the TenBroeck avenue crossing in September 1953, sued for personal injuries and damages to his car. He was awarded $1,000. Harry Gold, attorney for DeGroat, moved before Justice Donald S. Taylor to set aside the verdict on the grounds it was insufficient. Justice Taylor reserved decision on that motion and later granted the motion to set aside the verdict unless the defendant railroad stipulated to increase the award to $2,000. The railroad agreed and judgment has been entered in that sum.

WITH DeGROAT that evening was Mrs. Lillian DuMond of Kingston who was fatally injured. An action was brought by her husband for damages. In that action, in which Michael Nardone appeared as counsel, the jury returned a verdict of $590.50, the approximate amount of the expenses to DuMond. This verdict was awarded on the theory that DuMond and his wife had not been residing together and therefore he had suffered no loss, except the expenses involved. Justice Taylor denied the motion so far as DuMond was concerned from the bench, reserving on the motion of DeGroat.

Vincent G. Connelly appeared for the railroad.

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

LOGS AND LEARNING

We all know that Mother Nature ministers to our daily needs. But that is not the end of the matter for she also keeps school. James A. Garfield is reported to have said that his idea of a university was Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a student on the other. With all due respect to the pedagogical ability of a Mark Hopkins it is worth noting that the log—and all that goes with it—is one of learning's greatest assets. Thus it is no accident that the Master Teacher turned to nature for so much of His teaching materiel: "Consider the lilies" . . . "A sower went forth to sow" . . . "The wind bloweth where it listeth . . ."

This relationship between logs and learning impressed itself upon my mind the other day as I moved my apples. One of the grand assets of living in these parts is that we have access to the luscious products of the famous Hudson valley orchards. I have a few bushels which I have kept, until recently, in the garage. But with each day inching us nearer to the season when the frost loses its respect for the hindering obstacle of a thin board wall we have now about arrived at the place where garage protection for the luscious freezables is not enough. So, a few days ago, I moved them to the cellar.

While doing so I found a couple of dozen rotten apples and even more that had started to rot. And the thing that impressed me was that rotting is a kind of corporate process. The condition of one apple affects vitally the condition of the ones next to it. A rotten apple next to a good one will, if left alone, help to make two rotten apples. Sound apples fight an almost impossible battle to maintain their soundness if they are flanked by those that are mushy with deterioration. The converse also is true: a sound and solid apple helps his brother apples to keep sound.

It is nature's etching of an old, old truth: vice thrives on vice and virtue is an invaluable asset to more virtue. A person of low morals tugs the morals of others downward; whereas a person who lives by the highest of ideals makes it easier for others to be noble and true. In social settings one of the best ways of conquering temptations is to eliminate as much temptation as we can. The fundamental vision for all wise community planning is in seeking to provide and maintain the kind of moral atmosphere which gives goodness a grand social lift.

Mother Nature is always holding her lesson book before our eyes and trying to teach us her greatest lessons.

K of C Radio Programs

In the present series of radio programs concerning patron saints the Ave Maria Hour presents this Sunday the story of St. Odilia, patron of the blind. according to the announcement by the Knights of Columbus who sponsor the program, St. Odilia, blind from birth, was granted the gift of sight in later years so that she might more effecticely care for those who must walk in darkness. St. Odilia became first abbess of a convent built by her father, a convent where nuns were dedicated to the care of the sightless. The Sacred Heart Program will be heard during the coming week over WHUC, Hudson, weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m., and over WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE

You look out the window and watch your teenager hurry off to school with his books under his arm. What will he choose to be when he grows up? "Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor—" On the surface he seems to be thinking only about football and girls, but underneath he's probably giving serious thought to his future.

In our country, a boy doesn't have to follow in his father's footsteps unless he wants to. There are thousands of different kinds of work to choose from, and he has a right to choose the kind that will give him the most satisfaction. But it takes more than just choosing. It takes ambition, education, and experience. And it takes good health to be able to get that education and experience and to follow a career successfully. This is one part of his preparation for the future where you can really help.

One of the enemies that could prevent him from making a free choice of a career is tuberculosis. TB no longer kills young people at the terrifying rate it did in the past, but it attacks thousands every year. And when it attacks it may mean not only a long period of treatment. It may also mean a new way of life to prevent a recurrence of the disease. If TB strikes, your boy may no longer be able to follow the calling of his choice, if it requires too much physical strain.

TB is caused by a germ. A healthy body can usually fight the invading germs to a standstill. You can help your boy keep well by seeing that he eats properly and gets enough sleep, rest, and exercise in the fresh air.

Despite precautions, a heavy invasion of TB germs may defeat the body's defenses, and tuberculosis may begin its slow and silent development. Since TB has no warning symptoms in its early stages, it is harder to find before it has done serious damage than some other diseases. Doctor's advise young people over 15 to have a chest X-ray once a year to make sure that TB doesn't get a head start. You boy may think it's "sissy stuff" to go for a medical checkup when he feels perfectly well. You can persuade him that a few minutes in a doctor's office now isn't much to pay to help his dreams for the future come true.

May Be Long Fight

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dick Haymes' lawyers have opened what may prove to be a lengthy court fight to block deportation of the Argentine-born crooner now married to actress Rita Hayworth. Shortly after the Board of Immigration Appeals yesterday upheld a deportation order against Haymes, the 36-year-old singer's Washington lawyer, Welburn Mayock Sr., obtained a temporary injunction barring its immediate execution. A Federal Court hearing on the matter was set for Nov. 15. David Marcus, Haymes' Los Angeles lawyer, said the court action could take months "or more than months."

Egypt to Get Aid

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 6 (AP)—The United States and Egypt signed an agreement today giving Egypt 40 million dollars worth of U. S. economic aid. American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery said the pact opened an "entirely new phase in Egyptian-American cooperation." The accord marks the first time Egypt has received direct economic development funds from the United States, although she has been given 20 million dollars in point four technical assistance during the last four years.

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

LOGS AND LEARNING

We all know that Mother Nature ministers to our daily needs. But that is not the end of the matter for she also keeps school. James A. Garfield is reported to have said that his idea of a university was Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a student on the other. With all due respect to the pedagogical ability of a Mark Hopkins it is worth noting that the log—and all that goes with it—is one of learning's greatest assets. Thus it is no accident that the Master Teacher turned to nature for so much of His teaching materiel: "Consider the lilies" . . . "A sower went forth to sow" . . . "The wind bloweth where it listeth . . ."

This relationship between logs and learning impressed itself upon my mind the other day as I moved my apples. One of the grand assets of living in these parts is that we have access to the luscious products of the famous Hudson valley orchards. I have a few bushels which I have kept, until recently, in the garage. But with each day inching us nearer to the season when the frost loses its respect for the hindering obstacle of a thin board wall we have now about arrived at the place where garage protection for the luscious freezables is not enough. So, a few days ago, I moved them to the cellar.

While doing so I found a couple of dozen rotten apples and even more that had started to rot. And the thing that impressed me was that rotting is a kind of corporate process. The condition of one apple affects vitally the condition of the ones next to it. A rotten apple next to a good one will, if left alone, help to make two rotten apples. Sound apples fight an almost impossible battle to maintain their soundness if they are flanked by those that are mushy with deterioration. The converse also is true: a sound and solid apple helps his brother apples to keep sound.

It is nature's etching of an old, old truth: vice thrives on vice and virtue is an invaluable asset to more virtue. A person of low morals tugs the morals of others downward; whereas a person who lives by the highest of ideals makes it easier for others to be noble and true. In social settings one of the best ways of conquering temptations is to eliminate as much temptation as we can. The fundamental vision for all wise community planning is in seeking to provide and maintain the kind of moral atmosphere which gives goodness a grand social lift.

Mother Nature is always holding her lesson book before our eyes and trying to teach us her greatest lessons.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE

You look out the window and watch your teenager hurry off to school with his books under his arm. What will he choose to be when he grows up? "Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor—" On the surface he seems to be thinking only about football and girls, but underneath he's probably giving serious thought to his future.

In our country, a boy doesn't have to follow in his father's footsteps unless he wants to. There are thousands of different kinds of work to choose from, and he has a right to choose the kind that will give him the most satisfaction. But it takes more than just choosing. It takes ambition, education, and experience. And it takes good health to be able to get that education and experience and to follow a career successfully. This is one part of his preparation for the future where you can really help.

One of the enemies that could prevent him from making a free choice of a career is tuberculosis. TB no longer kills young people at the terrifying rate it did in the past, but it attacks thousands every year. And when it attacks it may mean not only a long period of treatment. It may also mean a new way of life to prevent a recurrence of the disease. If TB strikes, your boy may no longer be able to follow the calling of his choice, if it requires too much physical strain.

TB is caused by a germ. A healthy body can usually fight the invading germs to a standstill. You can help your boy keep well by seeing that he eats properly and gets enough sleep, rest, and exercise in the fresh air.

Despite precautions, a heavy invasion of TB germs may defeat the body's defenses, and tuberculosis may begin its slow and silent development. Since TB has no warning symptoms in its early stages, it is harder to find before it has done serious damage than some other diseases. Doctor's advise young people over 15 to have a chest X-ray once a year to make sure that TB doesn't get a head start. You boy may think it's "sissy stuff" to go for a medical checkup when he feels perfectly well. You can persuade him that a few minutes in a doctor's office now isn't much to pay to help his dreams for the future come true.

May Be Long Fight

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dick Haymes' lawyers have opened what may prove to be a lengthy court fight to block deportation of the Argentine-born crooner now married to actress Rita Hayworth. Shortly after the Board of Immigration Appeals yesterday upheld a deportation order against Haymes, the 36-year-old singer's Washington lawyer, Welburn Mayock Sr., obtained a temporary injunction barring its immediate execution. A Federal Court hearing on the matter was set for Nov. 15. David Marcus, Haymes' Los Angeles lawyer, said the court action could take months "or more than months."

Egypt to Get Aid

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 6 (AP)—The United States and Egypt signed an agreement today giving Egypt 40 million dollars worth of U. S. economic aid. American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery said the pact opened an "entirely new phase in Egyptian-American cooperation." The accord marks the first time Egypt has received direct economic development funds from the United States, although she has been given 20 million dollars in point four technical assistance during the last four years.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Saugerties, Nov. 5—The results of a survey conducted by the Central Hudson Electric and Gas Corporation for the modernization and improvement of village lighting was presented to the Village Board of Trustees at a re-scheduled meeting Wednesday night in the board rooms of the municipal building.

Robert Strickland of the Central Hudson Corporation outlined the proposed plan which would increase the present lighting of the streets from 100 candlepower to 250. The proposal, which covers only part of the village, but includes the new streets in the Knaust development, was estimated to cost over $2,000. Acceptance of the proposal was postponed for further discussion at the next meeting scheduled for Monday, Nov. 15.

The matter of dumping raw garbage on a property of that street also was discussed at length. Police Commissioner Eugene F. Thornton said he would dispatch a policeman to the scene if one of the residents seeing the violation would report it to the police department.

The group also made known that the dumping problem on that street will be presented at the next meeting of the Consolidated Saugerties Board of Health slated for Tuesday, Nov. 9.

The board received a request from Mutual Aid for cooperation in giving fire protection to 12.6 miles of the Thruway. The concensus of the board members was that they would investigate the matter further before answering the request.

The board received an invitation from Kingston Mayor Fred Stang to the Mayor's Conference to be held on Nov. 8 at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston.

The Board approved exemption papers for Atlee Ennis, Clifford Cashdollar, Jr., Myron Benson, and Harold Bell all of the C. A. Lynch Fire Company. School Yearbook Receives Top Honor

New Paltz, Nov. 5 (AP)—Word has been received by Raymond Buckley, advisor of the high school Yearbook, that the 1954 book was awarded first place in the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association rating.

The book is rated by a panel of experts from Columbia University against competition from all over the United States.

A medalist rating (the highest in this contest) is limited to not more than the best 10 per cent of the first place ratings. The 1954 book received this distinction.

What's the Odds?

'Baltimore' Nice For Big Families

Rooms ..... Seven
Bedrooms ..... Four
Closets ..... Ten
Cubage ..... 18,000 ft.
Dimensions (House) .... 30'x24'

Because it provides such a generous amount of living space —including a second story that can be finished at your convenience — "The Baltimore," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service will appeal strongly to larger families.

A modification of the garrison-type house this home is a design that will always be "in style." Its clean straight lines will make it "at home" in any surroundings; its comfortable interior will make it really enjoyable to live in.

Measuring 30 by 24 feet ,this house has a cubage of 18,000 feet. Without a garage it can be built on a 50-foot lot and gives a lot of house in a small area. A garage can be included if you want one; a detached type would be most suitable with a house of this style.

First-Floor Plan

Kitchen, living room and dining room are included in the plan of the first floor. If, however, you do not need the extra room provided by the second floor right away you can use the space designed for the dining room as a bedroom. Since the living room is more than large enough to serve a dual use you may even permanently use the dining room space as an extra bedroom.

Four good-sized, well-lighted bedrooms are located on the second floor. Thus, even a large family will have plenty of sleeping space with the allotted number of bedrooms.

Large Bathroom

The large all-modern bathroom is also located on the second floor conveniently near to the bedrooms. On the first floor there is a good-sized lavatory; a built-in shower can be installed in this room if you so desire.

On both floors of "The Baltimore" there is a generous amount of closet space. There is even a special tool storage compartment on the back porch.

Both the laundry and the heating plant must be installed in the basement of this house. The former should be placed under the kitchen; the latter under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Good Paint Strainers

Save any small pieces of wire screening you may have around — they are fine for straining paint.

Paint Will Benefit Cement Floors

It is always advisable to paint cement floors. Paint not only prevents the dusting-off of the cement and prevents discoloration and is an important factor from the viewpoint of sanitation.

If the floor is new, before painting scrub it thoroughly with sal soda and hot water—or other cleaning solution. Rinse thoroughly and let dry.

To neutralize the always present alkali in cement floors before painting, apply a solution of three pounds of zinc sulphate crystals to a gallon of water. After the floor is dry, rinse it several times with clear water and again let it dry. Paints especially manufactured for cement floors should be used.

Everbearing Berries

It is only in recent years that everbearing strawberries and raspberries have been developed, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Yields are increased and instead of one crop a year, these plants bear at least two crops.

Taller Glads Available

Varieties of gladiolus that grow to a height of five feet have been developed, and if they are planted deep enough (four to six inches) they'll stand straight through wind and rain. New catalogues list them and now is the time to order them for May planting.

Cold Weather Concrete

If you plan to do any concrete work during the cold weather, be sure not to allow the concrete to freeze before it has fully set. If concrete does freeze before it has become hard it will not be particularly good and chances are will soon fail.

'Baltimore' Nice For Big Families

Rooms ..... Seven
Bedrooms ..... Four
Closets ..... Ten
Cubage ..... 18,000 ft.
Dimensions (House) .... 30'x24'

Because it provides such a generous amount of living space—including a second story that can be finished at your convenience — "The Baltimore," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service will appeal strongly to larger families.

A modification of the garrison-type house this home is a design that will always be "in style." Its clean straight lines will make it "at home" in any surroundings; its comfortable interior will make it really enjoyable to live in.

Measuring 30 by 24 feet ,this house has a cubage of 18,000 feet. Without a garage it can be built on a 50-foot lot and gives a lot of house in a small area. A garage can be included if you want one; a detached type would be most suitable with a house of this style.

First-Floor Plan

Kitchen, living room and dining room are included in the plan of the first floor. If, however, you do not need the extra room provided by the second floor right away you can use the space designed for the dining room as a bedroom. Since the living room is more than large enough to serve a dual use you may even permanently use the dining room space as an extra bedroom.

Four good-sized, well-lighted bedrooms are located on the second floor. Thus, even a large family will have plenty of sleeping space with the allotted number of bedrooms.

Large Bathroom

The large all-modern bathroom is also located on the second floor conveniently near to the bedrooms. On the first floor there is a good-sized lavatory; a built-in shower can be installed in this room if you so desire.

On both floors of "The Baltimore" there is a generous amount of closet space. There is even a special tool storage compartment on the back porch.

Both the laundry and the heating plant must be installed in the basement of this house. The former should be placed under the kitchen; the latter under the living room.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Good Paint Strainers

Save any small pieces of wire screening you may have around — they are fine for straining paint.

Paint Will Benefit Cement Floors

It is always advisable to paint cement floors. Paint not only prevents the dusting-off of the cement and prevents discoloration and is an important factor from the viewpoint of sanitation.

If the floor is new, before painting scrub it thoroughly with sal soda and hot water—or other cleaning solution. Rinse thoroughly and let dry.

To neutralize the always present alkali in cement floors before painting, apply a solution of three pounds of zinc sulphate crystals to a gallon of water. After the floor is dry, rinse it several times with clear water and again let it dry. Paints especially manufactured for cement floors should be used.

Everbearing Berries

It is only in recent years that everbearing strawberries and raspberries have been developed, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Yields are increased and instead of one crop a year, these plants bear at least two crops.

Taller Glads Available

Varieties of gladiolus that grow to a height of five feet have been developed, and if they are planted deep enough (four to six inches) they'll stand straight through wind and rain. New catalogues list them and now is the time to order them for May planting.

Cold Weather Concrete

If you plan to do any concrete work during the cold weather, be sure not to allow the concrete to freeze before it has fully set. If concrete does freeze before it has become hard it will not be particularly good and chances are will soon fail.

AN UNREALISTIC PLAN

India's revulsion over the prospect of a war fought with annihilating nuclear weapons is shared by all men of good will. But India's proposal for an arms truce pending conclusion of a disarmament treaty is totally unrealistic, and has been properly rejected in the United Nations.

The Indian plan would not even have allowed use of A- or H-bombs to repel aggression. The Indian representatives sought complete prohibition of such weapons.

The flaw in this arrangement should be obvious, even to the Indians. Not the use, but the threat, of atomic weapons by the United States is acknowledged to be a principal deterrent to Soviet aggression.

That threat strikes home in the Kremlin only because of the superiority we have long enjoyed over Russia both in numbers and kinds of nuclear weapons. Should we at any time interrupt the production that is giving us this margin, then our leverage for peace—and the whole West's—would quickly be weakened.

The recent disclosure that Russia is conducting another series of atomic tests is a pointed reminder that Soviet leaders have been bending all effort to close that gap.

One might argue that an armament truce would also interrupt Russian production. But that presupposes an ironclad system of arms inspection that would allow international representatives to check on output within the Soviet Union. The Russians have refused to countenance such a system in any and all disarmament discussions.

So the only truce Russia would agree to would be one weak on inspection, which would leave the Communists relatively free to go on closing the atomic gap, while our great deterrent force would be frozen.

Furthermore, such a truce would ignore the fact that Russia possesses a great preponderance of strength in land armies. These presumably would be held in being despite the arms ban, and would contribute heavily to a shift of power toward the Soviet orbit.

Any arms plan, whether intermediate truce or permanent disarmament treaty, can have no meaning whatsoever without adequate enforcement provisions. The Indians have taken part in world councils long enough now to appreciate that a proposal offered without those checks is wasted breath.

If India's leaders ever have any realistic moments, they must have some understanding of how fortunate they are that America does indeed enjoy so marked an advantage in nuclear armament. For otherwise they might long since have found the unwelcome Red visitor on their doorstep.

FIFTY YEARS OF SUBWAYS

New York is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the subway; quite rightly, too, for without the subway New York would die of congestion. Surface transportation cannot even begin to handle New York's problem of getting people to work and back home again. The old time elevated railroads helped, but their pillars were an obstruction, and they darkened the city, to say nothing of their noise and dirt.

Historians of public transportation are a year late when they celebrate New York's achievement. London's Underground was 100 years old in 1953. The smoke of its steam cars must have made journeying by it a miserable affair. Fortunately, when new subways were planned in 1886, electricity had come into use as a source of power.

Now nearly all of the world's largest cities have subways, including Moscow and Tokyo. In New York the traffic situation is nevertheless so desperate as to bear out the legend of the man who tried to cross in the middle of a surface street intersection and found cars bearing down on him from four directions. He hoped to jump up and let them pass beneath him, but a plane was descending upon him. So, not knowing what else to do, he tore off the cover of a manhole and jumped in, only to be run over by a subway train.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

NOVEMBER 8

The Senate re-assembles on November 8 to censure Joe McCarthy. There is little doubt that he will be censured unless his friends are able to convince their colleagues in the Senate that they are setting a dangerous precedent for themselves. That is not likely because this subject has been discussed pro and con, on all grounds, including constitutional, and McCarthy only came up with at most 23 votes in his favor.

The charges against Senator McCarthy are not a product of the findings of the Mundt Committee. It can be said that despite all the Senatorial shenanigans before television, McCarthy and his counsel, Roy Cohn, came off rather well. His opponents had expected that he would be slaughtered by Senator Everett Dirksen and Charles Potter. This would result in a five to two vote on all questions. Dirksen, when he recognized the facts, changed from an antagonist to Roy Cohn and a doubter of McCarthy into their strongest defender. Potter remained antagonistic throughout but was not clear in his methods and liked too much to give the impression of statesmanlike impartiality.

Recognizing that McCarthy would not suffer because of the Mundt hearings, his antagonists maneuvered the existence of the Watkins Committee where McCarthy was treated as guilty before he was tried. These hearings were promoted by the National Committee for an Effective Congress. I have read all the hearings held under Joe McCarthy and never did he treat a witness as cavalierly as Senator Watkins treated McCarthy and his counsel. And the Committee recommended censure which is what it was appointed to do.

As this is a political question, Joe McCarthy can look neither to the Republicans nor Democrats for enough votes to free himself from censure. The Democrats will never forgive his "20 Years of Treason;" the Eisenhower Republicans are accepting the orders of the White House which remains antagonistic.

When McCarthy wrote his letter to William Randolph Hearst, Jr., which was intended to be a suggestion to his admirers to vote in the election and to give the President a Republican Senate and House, he had made no deal of any kind. Some of his friends opposed his writing such a letter unless he got a deal and it was believed that that could have been wrangled out of Vice President Nixon during the somewhat hysterical effort of the last week of the campaign. But no moves for a deal were made from either side. It was a voluntary declaration of loyalty on McCarthy's side with no quid pro quo.

McCarthy picked New Jersey as the state for his test of strength. He specified that the one exception to his appeal for the Republican Party was Clifford Case who was running for Senator and who had been President of the Fund for the Republic, a $15,000,000 Ford Foundation enterprise which was suspected to have been brought into existence to fight Congressional investigative committees. Case had accepted A.D.A. endorsements and was supported by the National Committee for an Effective Congress. He had declared himself anti-McCarthy even before the Watkins Report was in.

The Republican National Committee mobilized its full strength from the President down in support of Case. It was a test of strength. The McCarthy supporters made him the principal issue in New Jersey and no matter what Case did to make Eisenhower the issue, it did not work. The Democrats were careful to avoid being involved in this intra-party fight.

New Jersey usually elects Republicans to the United States Senate. The vote in New Jersey is so close that at the moment of writing it is impossible to say who was elected. The most that can be said is that Case either lost or was elected by a few hundred votes. Considering the forces and money poured into New Jersey to win for Case, the test of strength is at best indecisive.

I do not know who mails the postal cards on which are stamped in red the words: "Who Promoted Peress?" I have received dozens of them from various parts of the country. The distribution must be enormous and nationwide.

That question rather than the dentist who became a captain, was promoted to be a major and got an honorable discharge after refusing to answer to his loyalty, is the issue. It well could be the issue until it is answered.

NECESSARY CONTROL OF NOISE

I write frequently about noise, not just because it disturbs everyone, but because noise has a definite harmful effect which can be measured in lessened efficiency. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. George Blumenaurer, III, of Kansas City, tells us that "Ill effects from noise often result from the simple fact that persons have relatively little control of their exposure to sounds. We have to live with sounds and thus it seems well to consider how this vibrational energy may be kept within the comfort level for practical purposes."

"Sound waves are subject to deflection and sound decay; the term "sound decay" is used to describe the diminishing volume of sound resulting when sound waves meet obstacles that have absorbing, nonreflective surfaces." Some suggestions given are:

Doors may be cushioned against slamming with small rubber bumpers set in the jamb.

Benches and other furniture may be tipped with rubber so that contact with the floor may not cause noise.

Floor surfaces may be of resilient material; the sense of quiet in a room with the floor fully carpeted is, of course, well known. The carpeting absorbs the sound waves. Floors in office space, corridors, reception rooms and the like where there is considerable traffic, may have floor surfaces such as rubber tile or linoleum or asphalt tile.

When sound waves are set in motion in a room or building, they move in the air until an obstacle is met such as a wall, ceiling, floor, furniture which will reflect them onward if these surfaces are reflective. However, if such surfaces could be made absorptive such as rugs, upholstered furniture, or other fiber or plaster surfaces, sound decay occurs and the volume of sound will diminsh rapidly.

Sound may be measured with the "sound level meter," just as temperature is measured by a thermometer. Dr. Blumenaurer gives the following table:

Decibels—Kind of Sound
110-100—Thunder, artillery, riveter, boiler factory Effect—Deafening
90-80 —Loud street or factory noise, unmuffled truck Effect—Very loud
70-60 —Noisy office, average street and factory noise Effect—Loud
50-40 —Noisy home, average office, average talk Effect—Moderate
30-20 —Quiet home or private office, quiet talk Effect—Faint
10 —Rustle of leaves, whisper, sound-proof room Effect—Very faint

As stated before, noise causes a tenseness, an alertness, and this causes tension and finally fatigue.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The Eisenhower Administration's proposed contract with Edgar H. Dixon-E. A. Yates interests to build a new steam generating plant for additional electric power supply in the Tennessee Valley area may yet turn out to defeat what it was intended to do.

For the sake of argument, grant at the start that there was merit in the Administration's contention that the Tennessee Valley Authority was getting too big for its britches. Grant also that TVA was a trend towards socialism and away from capitalistic free enterprise.

Few of TVA's customers in the valley will buy that line. But plenty of people outside the valley—particularly people in the private power business—are convinced that TVA should be curbed.

The issue at stake here, however, is bigger than TVA—big as it is. The real issue is how far the government should go in its services to the people to promote their welfare.

SOME POLITICIANS APPARENTLY have come to the conclusion that the "peepul" like a certain amount of this government paternalism. They like social security, unemployment insurance and farm price supports, for instance. No U. S. political party could survive for five minutes today if it advocated outright repeal of these measures.

In the quesiton of government-built public power plants, however, the issue isn't quite so clear. But sooner or later the United States was due for a showdown on whether it is to continue in this admittedly somewhat socialistic business, or get out. The fact that this showdown should now come in the Tennessee Valley is only natural. TVA was first in the field.

So to report—grant that government generation and wholesaling of electric power is socialistic and should be curtailed. The question is how to curtail it?

There have been various proposals in recent years. One is to break up the TCA system and have the government sell its power facilities separately to private companies.

Another proposal is to divorce the government from TVA and authorize it to sell bonds and stocks to the public to finance its operations, instead of making it dependent on annual government appropriations.

ANYWAY WHATEVER PLAN might be cooked up to get government out of this controversial power business, a first requisite is that the deal be as clean as the proverbial hound's tooth. Furthermore, it should provide every assurance that the customers would be given better service at cheaper rates than TVA itself has provided.

The deal which the Eisenhower administration finally came up with to stop the further expansion of TVA has now been subject to attack for months for failing to meet these standards. This is in spite of the fact that President Eisenhower has given assurance that the proposed Dixon-Yates contract is an honorable negotiation in the best interests of the American people.

The charges made against the contract are many: Its cost estimates are based on doctored figures. It was secretly negotiated, without competitive bidding. Though the power generated would go into the TVA system, Atomic Energy Commission has been made the contracting agent for the government, short-circuiting TVA. A majority of AEC did not approve the contract.

IT IS FURTHER CHARGED that cost of the proposad plant will be higher than similar facilities built under TVA supervision. The rate which the contractor will receive has been calculated as double the rate which TVA would charge. The contractor's rate of profit is questioned. The contractor would be protected against risk or loss. The taxpayers would have to pay for the plant twice, and in the end they would not own it and so on.

The administration's weakness in this case is that while it has denied these charges, they have not been satisfactorily refuted. The truth will apparently come out only when the final contract is made public and is subject to congressional scrutiny.

But the mere fact that a deal as questionable as this is proposed as a means to stop the growth of TVA sets back the entire effort to stop the growth of socialism in government.

The cure for socialism is not the restoration of subsidized monopolies in secretly negotiated contracts. That is where the Dixon-Yates deal may backfire.

Classes to Start Monday for Tests

A new refresher class in preparation for high school equivalency tests will be formed Monday at 7 p. m. in room V-207 of the vocational building, it was announced today by Hubert Hoderath, supervisor of adult education in the city school system.

All interested in satisfying the requirements of positions that demand a high school education are encouraged to enroll for the course, Hoderath said, at the end of which they may take equivalency tests.

Hoderath said the course was brought to this city last year, because more than 20 were enrolled and he added that holding tests here saves persons from losing two days to go to Poughkeepsie for them.

How would you bid the North-South hands, if you couldn't see your partner's cards? There's no problem in the play of the cards, for you make twelve or thirteen tricks with the greatest of ease, but it's a very difficult slam to bid.

When the hand was played in a recent tournament, the slam was missed at most of the tables. South might make one or two cue-bids in clubs, but North invariably assumed that South had the ace or ace-king of clubs and correspondingly less strength elsewhere. After all, South had passed originally and couldn't therefore have a really good hand.

At one table, West picked the wrong moment to interfere with the North-South bidding. West doubled the cue-bid of four clubs, a very unwise move on his part.

South happened to be Steve Chase, who acts the role of the psychiatrist in the current hit show "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." Steve is a good actor both at and away from the bridge table, in all the best senses of that expression, so he came up with the perfect answer to the double of four clubs.

He calmly bid five clubs right after being doubled at four clubs.

North thought this strange bid over. "To begin with, Steve's in his right mind, if he had a real club suit, he would just redouble and play the hand there. If he had a mild slam try, he would bid four hearts instead of five clubs. This bid can mean only that Steve has double-barreled control of the clubs without a real club suit. A void in clubs is the only answer."

Having come to this correct conclusion, North jumped to six hearts.

Chase ruffed the opening club lead, took the ace and king of hearts, and ruffed another club. He entered dummy with the king of diamonds to ruff dummy's last club with his last trump, and got to dummy with the ace of spades to draw East's last trump with the jack of hearts.

Finally Steve got back to his hand with the king of spades to take the diamond finesses, making all thirteen tricks when this finesse succeeded.

Patent Suit Is Filed by Woman

Newark, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—A five million dollar patent infringement suit has been filed by a woman researcher against Dr. Selman A. Waksman and others in connection with the discovery and production of streptomycin.

Besides Waksman, who is co-discoverer of the antibiotic, the suit names the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation, and Merck & Co. of Rahway, N. J., a pharmaceutical firm, as defendants.

Mary A. Marcus, described as a scientific researcher and investigator, filed the suit in Federal Court yesterday. She claims she discovered in 1937 a new species of actiotinomycetic organism which she said Waksman used in developing streptomycin.

WAKSMAN HOLDS the Nobel Prize for his part in the discovery of the wonder drug and its development for therapeutic use. His patent for streptomycin and other discoveries were turned over to the Rutgers Foundation, which in turn licensed Merck & Co. to manufacture the antibiotic.

In her suit, Miss Marcus says she patented her discovery before Dr. Waksman patented streptomycin. Consequently, the suit alleges, Waksman's patent is an infringement of Miss Marcus'.

Miss Marcus seeks to have the defendants enjoined from further distribution of income, profits and royalties in the sale of the antibiotic.

FROM TRUSTEES of the Rutgers Foundation came a statement last night saying that Miss Marcus' charges were without foundation, and asserting they would be refuted in court.

"We are confident that Dr. Waksman and the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation will be completely vindicated," the statement said.

The funds derived from royalties on streptomycin and other antibiotics has enabled Rutgers to build an Institute of Microbiology, of which Waksman is director.

Rain This Month Helps Supplies

A fall of from two to three inches of rain in the mountain areas, to date, this month has made up for some of the loss of water in streams and reservoirs due to extended dry weather in the summer and early fall.

The city engineer's office reported a rainfall of 2.29 inches of rain, to date, this month as compared to only 1.61 inches for the whole month of October. Mountain sections reported rainfalls of three inches and more.

Recent rains brought the total rainfall between Jan. 1 and Nov. 4 to a point near normal for the period. The total is 33.45 inches and this is about a quarter of an inch below normal.

COOPER LAKE, the city's reservoir, was down more than nine feet about a week ago, and it is now gaining steadily, as are the New York city reservoirs after the recent rains.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, indicated a week ago, that if rains were insufficient before freezing weather, the city's water supply situation could have been serious.

AN UNREALISTIC PLAN

India's revulsion over the prospect of a war fought with annihilating nuclear weapons is shared by all men of good will. But India's proposal for an arms truce pending conclusion of a disarmament treaty is totally unrealistic, and has been properly rejected in the United Nations.

The Indian plan would not even have allowed use of A- or H-bombs to repel aggression. The Indian representatives sought complete prohibition of such weapons.

The flaw in this arrangement should be obvious, even to the Indians. Not the use, but the threat, of atomic weapons by the United States is acknowledged to be a principal deterrent to Soviet aggression.

That threat strikes home in the Kremlin only because of the superiority we have long enjoyed over Russia both in numbers and kinds of nuclear weapons. Should we at any time interrupt the production that is giving us this margin, then our leverage for peace—and the whole West's—would quickly be weakened.

The recent disclosure that Russia is conducting another series of atomic tests is a pointed reminder that Soviet leaders have been bending all effort to close that gap.

One might argue that an armament truce would also interrupt Russian production. But that presupposes an ironclad system of arms inspection that would allow international representatives to check on output within the Soviet Union. The Russians have refused to countenance such a system in any and all disarmament discussions.

So the only truce Russia would agree to would be one weak on inspection, which would leave the Communists relatively free to go on closing the atomic gap, while our great deterrent force would be frozen.

Furthermore, such a truce would ignore the fact that Russia possesses a great preponderance of strength in land armies. These presumably would be held in being despite the arms ban, and would contribute heavily to a shift of power toward the Soviet orbit.

Any arms plan, whether intermediate truce or permanent disarmament treaty, can have no meaning whatsoever without adequate enforcement provisions. The Indians have taken part in world councils long enough now to appreciate that a proposal offered without those checks is wasted breath.

If India's leaders ever have any realistic moments, they must have some understanding of how fortunate they are that America does indeed enjoy so marked an advantage in nuclear armament. For otherwise they might long since have found the unwelcome Red visitor on their doorstep.

FIFTY YEARS OF SUBWAYS

New York is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the subway; quite rightly, too, for without the subway New York would die of congestion. Surface transportation cannot even begin to handle New York's problem of getting people to work and back home again. The old time elevated railroads helped, but their pillars were an obstruction, and they darkened the city, to say nothing of their noise and dirt.

Historians of public transportation are a year late when they celebrate New York's achievement. London's Underground was 100 years old in 1953. The smoke of its steam cars must have made journeying by it a miserable affair. Fortunately, when new subways were planned in 1886, electricity had come into use as a source of power.

Now nearly all of the world's largest cities have subways, including Moscow and Tokyo. In New York the traffic situation is nevertheless so desperate as to bear out the legend of the man who tried to cross in the middle of a surface street intersection and found cars bearing down on him from four directions. He hoped to jump up and let them pass beneath him, but a plane was descending upon him. So, not knowing what else to do, he tore off the cover of a manhole and jumped in, only to be run over by a subway train.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

NOVEMBER 8

The Senate re-assembles on November 8 to censure Joe McCarthy. There is little doubt that he will be censured unless his friends are able to convince their colleagues in the Senate that they are setting a dangerous precedent for themselves. That is not likely because this subject has been discussed pro and con, on all grounds, including constitutional, and McCarthy only came up with at most 23 votes in his favor.

The charges against Senator McCarthy are not a product of the findings of the Mundt Committee. It can be said that despite all the Senatorial shenanigans before television, McCarthy and his counsel, Roy Cohn, came off rather well. His opponents had expected that he would be slaughtered by Senator Everett Dirksen and Charles Potter. This would result in a five to two vote on all questions. Dirksen, when he recognized the facts, changed from an antagonist to Roy Cohn and a doubter of McCarthy into their strongest defender. Potter remained antagonistic throughout but was not clear in his methods and liked too much to give the impression of statesmanlike impartiality.

Recognizing that McCarthy would not suffer because of the Mundt hearings, his antagonists maneuvered the existence of the Watkins Committee where McCarthy was treated as guilty before he was tried. These hearings were promoted by the National Committee for an Effective Congress. I have read all the hearings held under Joe McCarthy and never did he treat a witness as cavalierly as Senator Watkins treated McCarthy and his counsel. And the Committee recommended censure which is what it was appointed to do.

As this is a political question, Joe McCarthy can look neither to the Republicans nor Democrats for enough votes to free himself from censure. The Democrats will never forgive his "20 Years of Treason;" the Eisenhower Republicans are accepting the orders of the White House which remains antagonistic.

When McCarthy wrote his letter to William Randolph Hearst, Jr., which was intended to be a suggestion to his admirers to vote in the election and to give the President a Republican Senate and House, he had made no deal of any kind. Some of his friends opposed his writing such a letter unless he got a deal and it was believed that that could have been wrangled out of Vice President Nixon during the somewhat hysterical effort of the last week of the campaign. But no moves for a deal were made from either side. It was a voluntary declaration of loyalty on McCarthy's side with no quid pro quo.

McCarthy picked New Jersey as the state for his test of strength. He specified that the one exception to his appeal for the Republican Party was Clifford Case who was running for Senator and who had been President of the Fund for the Republic, a $15,000,000 Ford Foundation enterprise which was suspected to have been brought into existence to fight Congressional investigative committees. Case had accepted A.D.A. endorsements and was supported by the National Committee for an Effective Congress. He had declared himself anti-McCarthy even before the Watkins Report was in.

The Republican National Committee mobilized its full strength from the President down in support of Case. It was a test of strength. The McCarthy supporters made him the principal issue in New Jersey and no matter what Case did to make Eisenhower the issue, it did not work. The Democrats were careful to avoid being involved in this intra-party fight.

New Jersey usually elects Republicans to the United States Senate. The vote in New Jersey is so close that at the moment of writing it is impossible to say who was elected. The most that can be said is that Case either lost or was elected by a few hundred votes. Considering the forces and money poured into New Jersey to win for Case, the test of strength is at best indecisive.

I do not know who mails the postal cards on which are stamped in red the words: "Who Promoted Peress?" I have received dozens of them from various parts of the country. The distribution must be enormous and nationwide.

That question rather than the dentist who became a captain, was promoted to be a major and got an honorable discharge after refusing to answer to his loyalty, is the issue. It well could be the issue until it is answered.

NECESSARY CONTROL OF NOISE

I write frequently about noise, not just because it disturbs everyone, but because noise has a definite harmful effect which can be measured in lessened efficiency. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. George Blumenaurer, III, of Kansas City, tells us that "Ill effects from noise often result from the simple fact that persons have relatively little control of their exposure to sounds. We have to live with sounds and thus it seems well to consider how this vibrational energy may be kept within the comfort level for practical purposes."

"Sound waves are subject to deflection and sound decay; the term "sound decay" is used to describe the diminishing volume of sound resulting when sound waves meet obstacles that have absorbing, nonreflective surfaces." Some suggestions given are:

Doors may be cushioned against slamming with small rubber bumpers set in the jamb.

Benches and other furniture may be tipped with rubber so that contact with the floor may not cause noise.

Floor surfaces may be of resilient material; the sense of quiet in a room with the floor fully carpeted is, of course, well known. The carpeting absorbs the sound waves. Floors in office space, corridors, reception rooms and the like where there is considerable traffic, may have floor surfaces such as rubber tile or linoleum or asphalt tile.

When sound waves are set in motion in a room or building, they move in the air until an obstacle is met such as a wall, ceiling, floor, furniture which will reflect them onward if these surfaces are reflective. However, if such surfaces could be made absorptive such as rugs, upholstered furniture, or other fiber or plaster surfaces, sound decay occurs and the volume of sound will diminsh rapidly.

Sound may be measured with the "sound level meter," just as temperature is measured by a thermometer. Dr. Blumenaurer gives the following table:

Decibels—Kind of Sound
110-100—Thunder, artillery, riveter, boiler factory Effect—Deafening
90-80 —Loud street or factory noise, unmuffled truck Effect—Very loud
70-60 —Noisy office, average street and factory noise Effect—Loud
50-40 —Noisy home, average office, average talk Effect—Moderate
30-20 —Quiet home or private office, quiet talk Effect—Faint
10 —Rustle of leaves, whisper, sound-proof room Effect—Very faint

As stated before, noise causes a tenseness, an alertness, and this causes tension and finally fatigue.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The Eisenhower Administration's proposed contract with Edgar H. Dixon-E. A. Yates interests to build a new steam generating plant for additional electric power supply in the Tennessee Valley area may yet turn out to defeat what it was intended to do.

For the sake of argument, grant at the start that there was merit in the Administration's contention that the Tennessee Valley Authority was getting too big for its britches. Grant also that TVA was a trend towards socialism and away from capitalistic free enterprise.

Few of TVA's customers in the valley will buy that line. But plenty of people outside the valley—particularly people in the private power business—are convinced that TVA should be curbed.

The issue at stake here, however, is bigger than TVA—big as it is. The real issue is how far the government should go in its services to the people to promote their welfare.

SOME POLITICIANS APPARENTLY have come to the conclusion that the "peepul" like a certain amount of this government paternalism. They like social security, unemployment insurance and farm price supports, for instance. No U. S. political party could survive for five minutes today if it advocated outright repeal of these measures.

In the quesiton of government-built public power plants, however, the issue isn't quite so clear. But sooner or later the United States was due for a showdown on whether it is to continue in this admittedly somewhat socialistic business, or get out. The fact that this showdown should now come in the Tennessee Valley is only natural. TVA was first in the field.

So to report—grant that government generation and wholesaling of electric power is socialistic and should be curtailed. The question is how to curtail it?

There have been various proposals in recent years. One is to break up the TCA system and have the government sell its power facilities separately to private companies.

Another proposal is to divorce the government from TVA and authorize it to sell bonds and stocks to the public to finance its operations, instead of making it dependent on annual government appropriations.

ANYWAY WHATEVER PLAN might be cooked up to get government out of this controversial power business, a first requisite is that the deal be as clean as the proverbial hound's tooth. Furthermore, it should provide every assurance that the customers would be given better service at cheaper rates than TVA itself has provided.

The deal which the Eisenhower administration finally came up with to stop the further expansion of TVA has now been subject to attack for months for failing to meet these standards. This is in spite of the fact that President Eisenhower has given assurance that the proposed Dixon-Yates contract is an honorable negotiation in the best interests of the American people.

The charges made against the contract are many: Its cost estimates are based on doctored figures. It was secretly negotiated, without competitive bidding. Though the power generated would go into the TVA system, Atomic Energy Commission has been made the contracting agent for the government, short-circuiting TVA. A majority of AEC did not approve the contract.

IT IS FURTHER CHARGED that cost of the proposad plant will be higher than similar facilities built under TVA supervision. The rate which the contractor will receive has been calculated as double the rate which TVA would charge. The contractor's rate of profit is questioned. The contractor would be protected against risk or loss. The taxpayers would have to pay for the plant twice, and in the end they would not own it and so on.

The administration's weakness in this case is that while it has denied these charges, they have not been satisfactorily refuted. The truth will apparently come out only when the final contract is made public and is subject to congressional scrutiny.

But the mere fact that a deal as questionable as this is proposed as a means to stop the growth of TVA sets back the entire effort to stop the growth of socialism in government.

The cure for socialism is not the restoration of subsidized monopolies in secretly negotiated contracts. That is where the Dixon-Yates deal may backfire.

Classes to Start Monday for Tests

A new refresher class in preparation for high school equivalency tests will be formed Monday at 7 p. m. in room V-207 of the vocational building, it was announced today by Hubert Hoderath, supervisor of adult education in the city school system.

All interested in satisfying the requirements of positions that demand a high school education are encouraged to enroll for the course, Hoderath said, at the end of which they may take equivalency tests.

Hoderath said the course was brought to this city last year, because more than 20 were enrolled and he added that holding tests here saves persons from losing two days to go to Poughkeepsie for them.

How would you bid the North-South hands, if you couldn't see your partner's cards? There's no problem in the play of the cards, for you make twelve or thirteen tricks with the greatest of ease, but it's a very difficult slam to bid.

When the hand was played in a recent tournament, the slam was missed at most of the tables. South might make one or two cue-bids in clubs, but North invariably assumed that South had the ace or ace-king of clubs and correspondingly less strength elsewhere. After all, South had passed originally and couldn't therefore have a really good hand.

At one table, West picked the wrong moment to interfere with the North-South bidding. West doubled the cue-bid of four clubs, a very unwise move on his part.

South happened to be Steve Chase, who acts the role of the psychiatrist in the current hit show "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." Steve is a good actor both at and away from the bridge table, in all the best senses of that expression, so he came up with the perfect answer to the double of four clubs.

He calmly bid five clubs right after being doubled at four clubs.

North thought this strange bid over. "To begin with, Steve's in his right mind, if he had a real club suit, he would just redouble and play the hand there. If he had a mild slam try, he would bid four hearts instead of five clubs. This bid can mean only that Steve has double-barreled control of the clubs without a real club suit. A void in clubs is the only answer."

Having come to this correct conclusion, North jumped to six hearts.

Chase ruffed the opening club lead, took the ace and king of hearts, and ruffed another club. He entered dummy with the king of diamonds to ruff dummy's last club with his last trump, and got to dummy with the ace of spades to draw East's last trump with the jack of hearts.

Finally Steve got back to his hand with the king of spades to take the diamond finesses, making all thirteen tricks when this finesse succeeded.

Patent Suit Is Filed by Woman

Newark, N. J., Nov. 5 (AP)—A five million dollar patent infringement suit has been filed by a woman researcher against Dr. Selman A. Waksman and others in connection with the discovery and production of streptomycin.

Besides Waksman, who is co-discoverer of the antibiotic, the suit names the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation, and Merck & Co. of Rahway, N. J., a pharmaceutical firm, as defendants.

Mary A. Marcus, described as a scientific researcher and investigator, filed the suit in Federal Court yesterday. She claims she discovered in 1937 a new species of actiotinomycetic organism which she said Waksman used in developing streptomycin.

WAKSMAN HOLDS the Nobel Prize for his part in the discovery of the wonder drug and its development for therapeutic use. His patent for streptomycin and other discoveries were turned over to the Rutgers Foundation, which in turn licensed Merck & Co. to manufacture the antibiotic.

In her suit, Miss Marcus says she patented her discovery before Dr. Waksman patented streptomycin. Consequently, the suit alleges, Waksman's patent is an infringement of Miss Marcus'.

Miss Marcus seeks to have the defendants enjoined from further distribution of income, profits and royalties in the sale of the antibiotic.

FROM TRUSTEES of the Rutgers Foundation came a statement last night saying that Miss Marcus' charges were without foundation, and asserting they would be refuted in court.

"We are confident that Dr. Waksman and the Rutgers Research and Endowment Foundation will be completely vindicated," the statement said.

The funds derived from royalties on streptomycin and other antibiotics has enabled Rutgers to build an Institute of Microbiology, of which Waksman is director.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife and our loving mother, Fannie Turck, who passed away three years ago today.

You were so wonderful to us,
So gentle, sweet and kind.
It seems that we were always
In your heart and in your mind.
No, there is nothing we can say
Except a loving prayer,
That God will bless you always,
And keep you in His care.

Signed,

Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and daddy, William J. Golnek, who departed this life Nov. 7, 1948.

Loving thoughts, kind and tender,
Just to show we still remember
Your smiles we miss and kindness, too,
But my dearest one, how we miss you.
Resting at last in the Home of our Blessed Savior.
His Holy Will be done.
We try hard not too weep, but sometimes that's a task.
For we miss you more darling as the years go past.

LOVING WIFE & FAMILY.

Of the loss of one I loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory I shall always keep.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Ruth M. Brown, who passed away Nov. 7, 1953.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That she is dead—She is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there.

And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and glad return,
Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of her still as the same, I say:
She is not dead—She is just away!

Picture by Girl, 8, Placed With Big Name Artists

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—A picture by an 8-year-old girl, submitted by her mother as a prank, was placed on exhibition today along with paintings by some of Britain's big name artists.

Tania Hunter, the little girl, has a mother and a half-brother who paint—seriously. A few weeks ago they were discussing what pictures they would send to the London Group for consideration as entries in the annual show at the New Burlington galleries.

"Oh," said Tania's half-brother, "mine won't be accepted. I was turned down last year."

MRS. BRYAN HUNTER, Tania's mother shook her head. "Send something along all the same. Some shows accept paintings that might have been done by a child of 8—"

She paused as another idea came to her. Little Tania had a painting she'd once done of her Japanese doll. Mrs. Hunter found it and sent it along with some of her own work and her son's—just to see what would happen.

London group officials rejected the work of the mother and the brother, but accepted Tania's and, as picture No. 268, it hangs in the exhibition, with a 12 pound 12 shillings ($35.28) price tag on it.

The subject was no laughing matter at the galleries. Inquiries encountered an icy reception.

Long . . .

attention between the witness on the stand and the defendant. Once, several of them turned their heads away quickly as Sheppard looked up and faced them with misery in his eyes.

Corrigan, whose relentless questioning hammered Adelson into making nervous and somewhat defiant answers, tried to discredit the autopsy the deputy coroner made of the body.

The lawyer told a reporter later:

"The police and these people from the coroner's office simply went out to that (Sheppard) house and decided that Sam Sheppard killed his wife. After that, they never made an attempt to see if anyone else did it."

Corrigan got Adelson to concede the corner's office made only a microscopic test to determine whether the victim had been raped, and did not make a chemical examination.

THE LAWYER pointed out a certain pattern in the head wounds that killed the osteopath's wife, suggesting that a pronged weapon like a rake could have been the weapon. Sheppard has insisted his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who knocked him unconscious when he went to her aid.

During recesses yesterday, the defendant spent much of his time reading a book. The book was "Meditations From a Prison Cell," by F. Odin Stockwell.

Plans Strategy

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senate leaders planned last-minute talks today on procedure for the Senate's special session amid predictions a final vote on whether to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will come in a week or two. McCarthy and his staff members meanwhile were reported arranging strategy meetings with senators friendly to his cause. McCarthy has said he plans a detailed presentation of his side of the case for the benefit of the public, but has declined to call it a defense. The Wisconsin Republican has predicted the Senate will vote to censure him at the session starting Monday, saying only a few members of the 96-man "jury" will go into the proceedings with an open mind.

Holds 2,027 Lead

Portland, Ore., Nov. 6 (AP)—Democrat Richard L. Neuberger of Portland held a 2,027 vote lead over his Republican opponent, Sen. Guy Cordon, as tabulating of Oregon's crucial U. S. Senate election continued yesterday. The vote was 283,258 for Cordon and 285,285 for Neuberger according to unofficial but double-checked returns from 2,496 of the state's 2,499 precincts. The three outstanding precincts do not have 50 votes among them.

Would Bar Bombs

Moscow, Nov. 6 (AP)—Visiting officials from the English city of Coventry have joined with officials of Stalingrad in an appeal to the United Nations to ban hydrogen and atomic bombs. Both cities suffered heavily in World War 2. The appeal was drawn up by the Russians and agreed to by the British delegation. It was given wide play in today's Soviet press.

It is believed to have been lost in the central Broadway or uptown business districts. Gaudry recently moved to Kingston from Georgia.

Finish Resolution

United Nations, Nov. 6 (AP)—Western representatives today put final touches on a resolution seeking UN endorsement for President Eisenhower's plan for peaceful sharing of atomic energy as diplomats anxiously awaited Russia's reaction to the program. The resolution — for submission to the UN's 60-nation political committee—was drafted last night by seven western nations which have been negotiating on atomic energy.

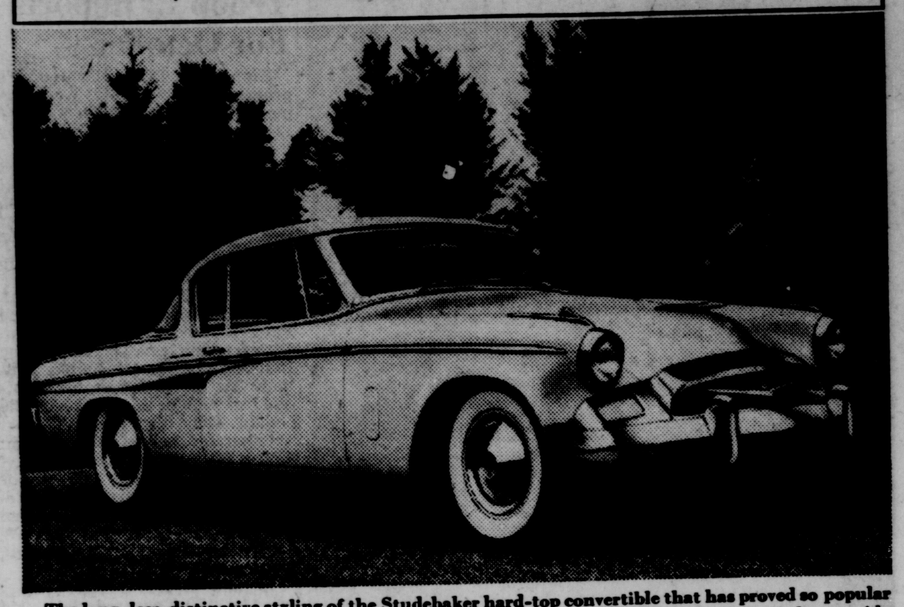
STYLE, POWER, LOWER PRICES FEATURE HARD-TOP



The long, low, distinctive styling of the Studebaker hard-top convertible that has proved so popular throughout the world is accentuated in the new 1955 models by the sweeping effect of chrome side mouldings that extend from the headlights, above the massive appearing grille, to the newly styled tail lights. The flowing lines of this President State model are further brought out by hood and fender ornaments. The interiors are styled in diamond pattern nylon and rayon upholstery in complementary colors. Elegance of interior appointments and trim adds to the luxury of the high styling. The new Studebaker "Wildcat" V-8 engine with 175 horsepower gives this model superior performance and roadability. Lower prices prevail throughout the entire new Studebaker line.

He is a veteran of World War 2. Prandoni is a member of the IBM Country Club, IBM Study Club and Bloomington Volunteer Fire Co., which he serves as assistant chief. He also is a member of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association, a trustee of the Creek Locks School District and a member of the American Society of Tool Engineers. Mr. and Mrs. Prandoni have two children, a boy and a girl.

Winchell joined the Poughkeepsie IBM organization as a tool and model maker in May, 1948. Last month, he was assigned to the Kingston IBM plant in his present capacity. He is married and makes his residence in Wappingers Falls.

Dismissal of . . .

the Red victory there. Last year, Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said the Eisenhower administration "struck out" by not firing Davies.

Patrick J. Hurley, U. S. ambassador to China in 1944-45, accused Davies and others of "sabotaging" the policy of aiding Chiang.

The new investigation of Davies was ordered under the terms of security regulations issued early last year by President Eisenhower.

"Under the present executive order on security," Dulles said, "it is not enough that an employe be of complete and unswerving loyalty. He must be reliable, trustworthy, of good conduct and character."

THE POSSIBILITY of further controversy in the Davies affair arises from several factors:

1. Davies said he had asked Dulles to make public "the whole record on my case, including my 1950 recommendations that we seek a preventive showdown with the Soviet Union." This was the first hint that he had made such a proposal.

2. It appeared probable that the Foreign Service Journal, a magazine published by foreign service officers, would also ask publication of the record on the ground that the Dulles announcement yesterday did not make the issues clear for the future guidance of U. S. diplomats.

Also asking publication was former Ambassador George F. Kennan, a prominent career diplomat, whom Dulles retired last year in consequence of differences over policy. Kennan called Davies' dismissal "ill advised."

3. Democratic party leaders, returning to power in the next Congress, have indicated they intend to investigate security firing of the Eisenhower administration. The Davies dismissal falls into that category.

Davies did not explain what he meant by his reference to recommendations for a "preventive showdown" with Russia.

However, it was learned that as a member of the State Department policy planning staff in 1950 he had made such a proposal in a paper which was never seriously considered for government policy.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said yesterday that examination of the firm's offices and books indicated that money also was given to employes of the Department of Housing and Building

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced yesterday he would seek prompt adoption of legislation penalizing any person who offers a city employe a "gratuity."

CAVANAGH said last night that he had suspended the Atlas Company from again doing business with the city.

An Atlas Company spokesman said the money to the three fire chiefs was a "friendly gift."

Demolition fires are permitted on special request to the fire department for burning of refuse or litter accumulated in tearing down a building. These fires hasten the job of demolition but are allowed only under regulations requiring that they be watched closely.

Opposing Sides

conference scheduled with Knowland today on procedures to be followed in the special Senate session beginning Monday on the move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

One possible source of future Democratic-Republican friction seemed out of the running last night with a White House announcement that Albert C. Besson had advised Eisenhower he could not accept appointment to a new term on the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Besson's original appointment caused the bitterest confirmation fight of the year before the Senate finally approved it last February, 45-42. All but a couple of Democrats voted against him. Union leaders accused him of a pro-management bias, although the actual Senate dispute centered on whether he had truly resigned from a California firm when he accepted the NLRB appointment.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife and our loving mother, Fannie Turck, who passed away three years ago today.

You were so wonderful to us,
So gentle, sweet and kind.
It seems that we were always
In your heart and in your mind.
No, there is nothing we can say
Except a loving prayer,
That God will bless you always,
And keep you in His care.
Signed,
HUSBAND & CHILDREN.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and daddy, William J. Golnek, who departed this life Nov. 7, 1948.

Loving thoughts, kind and tender,
Just to show we still remember
Your smiles we miss and kindness, too,
But my dearest one, how we miss you.
Resting at last in the Home of our Blessed Savior.
His Holy Will be done.
We try hard not too weep, but sometimes that's a task.
For we miss you more darling as the years go past.
LOVING WIFE & FAMILY.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Ruth M. Brown, who passed away Nov. 7, 1953.

The depth of sorrow I cannot tell
Of the loss of one I loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory I shall always keep.
SISTERS and BROTHER

Memoriam

In loving memory of Ruth M. Brown, who passed away Nov. 7, 1953.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That she is dead—She is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there.

And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and glad return,
Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of her still as the same, I say:
She is not dead—She is just away!

Picture by Girl, 8, Placed With Big Name Artists

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—A picture by an 8-year-old girl, submitted by her mother as a prank, was placed on exhibition today along with paintings by some of Britain's big name artists.

Tania Hunter, the little girl, has a mother and a half-brother who paint—seriously. A few weeks ago they were discussing what pictures they would send to the London Group for consideration as entries in the annual show at the New Burlington galleries.

MRS. BRYAN HUNTER, Tania's mother shook her head. "Send something along all the same. Some shows accept paintings that might have been done by a child of 8—"

She paused as another idea came to her. Little Tania had a painting she'd once done of her Japanese doll. Mrs. Hunter found it and sent it along with some of her own work and her son's—just to see what would happen.

London group officials rejected the work of the mother and the brother, but accepted Tania's and, as picture No. 268, it hangs in the exhibition, with a 12 pound 12 shillings ($35.28) price tag on it.

The subject was no laughing matter at the galleries. Inquiries encountered an icy reception.

Corrigan, whose relentless questioning hammered Adelson into making nervous and somewhat defiant answers, tried to discredit the autopsy the deputy coroner made of the body.

The lawyer told a reporter later:

"The police and these people from the coroner's office simply went out to that (Sheppard) house and decided that Sam Sheppard killed his wife. After that, they never made an attempt to see if anyone else did it."

Corrigan got Adelson to concede the corner's office made only a microscopic test to determine whether the victim had been raped, and did not make a chemical examination.

THE LAWYER pointed out a certain pattern in the head wounds that killed the osteopath's wife, suggesting that a pronged weapon like a rake could have been the weapon. Sheppard has insisted his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who knocked him unconscious when he went to her aid.

During recesses yesterday, the defendant spent much of his time reading a book. The book was "Meditations From a Prison Cell," by F. Odin Stockwell.

Plans Strategy

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senate leaders planned last-minute talks today on procedure for the Senate's special session amid predictions a final vote on whether to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will come in a week or two. McCarthy and his staff members meanwhile were reported arranging strategy meetings with senators friendly to his cause. McCarthy has said he plans a detailed presentation of his side of the case for the benefit of the public, but has declined to call it a defense. The Wisconsin Republican has predicted the Senate will vote to censure him at the session starting Monday, saying only a few members of the 96-man "jury" will go into the proceedings with an open mind.

Holds 2,027 Lead

Portland, Ore., Nov. 6 (AP)—Democrat Richard L. Neuberger of Portland held a 2,027 vote lead over his Republican opponent, Sen. Guy Cordon, as tabulating of Oregon's crucial U. S. Senate election continued yesterday. The vote was 283,258 for Cordon and 285,285 for Neuberger according to unofficial but double-checked returns from 2,496 of the state's 2,499 precincts. The three outstanding precincts do not have 50 votes among them.

Moscow, Nov. 6 (AP)—Visiting officials from the English city of Coventry have joined with officials of Stalingrad in an appeal to the United Nations to ban hydrogen and atomic bombs. Both cities suffered heavily in World War 2. The appeal was drawn up by the Russians and agreed to by the British delegation. It was given wide play in today's Soviet press.

It is believed to have been lost in the central Broadway or uptown business districts. Gaudry recently moved to Kingston from Georgia.

Finish Resolution

United Nations, Nov. 6 (AP)—Western representatives today put final touches on a resolution seeking UN endorsement for President Eisenhower's plan for peaceful sharing of atomic energy as diplomats anxiously awaited Russia's reaction to the program. The resolution — for submission to the UN's 60-nation political committee—was drafted last night by seven western nations which have been negotiating on atomic energy.

STYLE, POWER, LOWER PRICES FEATURE HARD-TOP

The long, low, distinctive styling of the Studebaker hard-top convertible that has proved so popular throughout the world is accentuated in the new 1955 models by the sweeping effect of chrome side mouldings that extend from the headlights, above the massive appearing grille, to the newly styled tail lights. The flowing lines of this President State model are further brought out by hood and fender ornaments. The interiors are styled in diamond pattern nylon and rayon upholstery in complementary colors. Elegance of interior appointments and trim adds to the luxury of the high styling. The new Studebaker "Wildcat" V-8 engine with 175 horsepower gives this model superior performance and roadability. Lower prices prevail throughout the entire new Studebaker line.

Ives Gains 640

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Canvasses by election commissioners in seven counties have given Republican U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives a net gain of 640 votes to cut Democratic-Liberal Averell Harriman's lead for governor to 9,017 votes. The official figures, tabulated yesterday, gave Ives 2,545,063 votes to 2,554,080 for Harriman.

Dismissal of . . .

the Red victory there. Last year, Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said the Eisenhower administration "struck out" by not firing Davies.

Patrick J. Hurley, U. S. ambassador to China in 1944-45, accused Davies and others of "sabotaging" the policy of aiding Chiang.

The new investigation of Davies was ordered under the terms of security regulations issued early last year by President Eisenhower.

"Under the present executive order on security," Dulles said, "it is not enough that an employe be of complete and unswerving loyalty. He must be reliable, trustworthy, of good conduct and character."

THE POSSIBILITY of further controversy in the Davies affair arises from several factors:

1. Davies said he had asked Dulles to make public "the whole record on my case, including my 1950 recommendations that we seek a preventive showdown with the Soviet Union." This was the first hint that he had made such a proposal.

2. It appeared probable that the Foreign Service Journal, a magazine published by foreign service officers, would also ask publication of the record on the ground that the Dulles announcement yesterday did not make the issues clear for the future guidance of U. S. diplomats.

Also asking publication was former Ambassador George F. Kennan, a prominent career diplomat, whom Dulles retired last year in consequence of differences over policy. Kennan called Davies' dismissal "ill advised."

3. Democratic party leaders, returning to power in the next Congress, have indicated they intend to investigate security firing of the Eisenhower administration. The Davies dismissal falls into that category.

Davies did not explain what he meant by his reference to recommendations for a "preventive showdown" with Russia.

However, it was learned that as a member of the State Department policy planning staff in 1950 he had made such a proposal in a paper which was never seriously considered for government policy.

ATLAS is tearing down buildings in the Borough Hall section of Brooklyn to make way for a civic center.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said yesterday that examination of the firm's offices and books indicated that money also was given to employes of the Department of Housing and Building

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced yesterday he would seek prompt adoption of legislation penalizing any person who offers a city employe a "gratuity."

CAVANAGH said last night that he had suspended the Atlas Company from again doing business with the city.

An Atlas Company spokesman said the money to the three fire chiefs was a "friendly gift."

Demolition fires are permitted on special request to the fire department for burning of refuse or litter accumulated in tearing down a building. These fires hasten the job of demolition but are allowed only under regulations requiring that they be watched closely.

At 10:10 p. m., an automobile driven by Joseph Kozlowski, 28, of Poughkeepsie, turned over on the highway in the town of Newburgh near the Ulster county line, troopers said. No personal injury was reported. Troopers reported Kozlowski's vehicle ran off on the west shoulder of the highway and upset as he was attempting to bring it back on the pavement.

The other accident occurred at 3:15 a. m. today when the automobile of William Herron, 23, of Poughkeepsie, upset on Route 9W just south of the village of Marlborough, troopers said. Opposing Sides conference scheduled with Knowland today on procedures to be followed in the special Senate session beginning Monday on the move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

One possible source of future Democratic-Republican friction seemed out of the running last night with a White House announcement that Albert C. Besson had advised Eisenhower he could not accept appointment to a new term on the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Besson's original appointment caused the bitterest confirmation fight of the year before the Senate finally approved it last February, 45-42. All but a couple of Democrats voted against him. Union leaders accused him of a pro-management bias, although the actual Senate dispute centered on whether he had truly resigned from a California firm when he accepted the NLRB appointment.

Skyhawk Demonstrated

China Lake, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—America's smallest and lightest jet combat plane, the Douglas A4D Skyhawk, was publicly demonstrated by the navy for the first time yesterday. The bantam bomber flew past a crowd of visiting aviation writers and military personnel at Inyokern Naval Air Station at 600 m.p.h. about 100 feet above the ground. Douglas test pilot Robert O. Rahn was at the controls. After a second fast run, Rahn aimed the tiny plane sharply upward and did four slow rolls in a swift climb to 20,000 feet. Less than half the size of many present jet fighters, the Skyhawk has performance superior to many of them.

Good Taste Today

UNTRUSTING FAMILY

A man writes: "The following situation came up recently and as it has caused some criticism I am writing to get your opinion on the matter. I invited an old college friend of mine (a bachelor) to come and visit me and my family for a week. No sooner had he arrived when I was called away unexpectedly on business and had to go out of town for a few days. My friend stayed on at the house with my wife and young daughter. It seems this has shocked several members of my family who think that it was against all rules of propriety to have him stay in the house while I was gone. I think the whole thing is ridiculous, but just for the sake of peace, will you please settle this controversy which is still go on."

I definitely share your opinion!

Jealous Husband?

Dear Mrs. Post: An issue has come up between my husband and me that we would like you to settle. He says that it is wrong for me to speak first to a neighbor or a casual acquaintance of the opposite sex and that people will think I am flirting. I told him that I had been taught that it is a woman's privilege to speak first. He says he never heard of such a thing, that no lady would speak to a man unless he spoke to her, and then it was her privilege to recognize him or not as she chose.

Answer: I'm very sorry to have to disagree completely with your husband. I have never heard of such a rule as he suggests. On the contrary, you are right. It is the woman who should speak first.

Colored Ink

Dear Mrs. Post: I just bought green ink to use on some green stationery that was given to me, and now I've found out that it is wrong to use green ink when writing letters. Is this true? If so, why is green ink in bad taste and not red, purple, or brown, and why is green ink sold if it is wrong to use?

Answer: There are lots of things on the market that are in bad taste. Green, red and brown ink are equally bad. Black or blue are in best taste.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

At last, the TV networks got themselves a real spectacular. Election night, of course.

Maybe there's something wrong with America's caricaturists. The Caricaturists Society of America, picking the "10 most-stimulating women in America," included Sheree North on their list. Nothing wrong with that, of course, but they singled out Miss North's jowls for their approval.

Funny, but I never even thought about her jowls.

You just never know where you'll find a sensitive soul. One lurks deep down inside that strapping, handsome actor, John Hodiak, now gainfully employed as Maryk in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" on Broadway.

After some pleasant conversation about the play and television and a few other routine subjects, suddenly a nerve was touched and Hodiak's eyes glittered and his voice grew excited. That nerve was one called "ambition."

"My ambition?" echoed Hodiak. "I want to do a kid's program. In a year or so. No hurry. I want to do it right. I've thought a lot about it and I want to do it right. A young man should do a show for kids — not some old Uncle Fuddy-Duddy."

Who would have thought it? Turns out children are one of John Hodiak's great interests, starting with his own three-year-old daughter and extending outward. And one of these years, he'll be on TV with a children's program and be a happy man.

Not that he's unhappy now. He likes his role in Herman Wouk's great play. In fact, he probably set a world's speed record for accepting the part. Producer Paul Gregory called him and asked two questions—"Have you read the book, 'The Caine Mutiny'?" and "Would you like to play Maryk?"—and Hodiak's two affirmative answers got him the job.

And he's gotten used to being in a Broadway show, although that took some doing. At first, he didn't know what to do with himself Sundays, and he used to try going away for the weekend. ("It was too hectic.") Now on Sundays he holes up in his apartment with the Sunday papers and the radio and just relaxes.

And between the matinee and evening performances on Wednesdays and Saturdays used to be a problem. Now he goes over to Sardi's for a leisurely, light dinner, talks to friends "to find out what's new with their kids," and goes back to the dressing room and rests. On Saturdays now, he watches the football games with the rest of the cast on a new TV set in a dressing room.

So it's a nice life. But just wait until he has that children's program.

Bing Crosby's new series on CBS-Radio—15 minutes, five days a week—is another step in that network's revised philosophy of how radio can meet TV competition. It's a system known technically as "strip booking"—meaning the same show in the same time every night. That's the system used for years in daytime radio, and CBS feels it may be the salvation for nighttime radio, too.

The object, says an intra-office CBS memorandum, is to "create programs worth remembering and schedule them in times easy to remember." Already the network has about two hours of strip booking—Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Lowell Thomas, Edward R. Murrow, Tennessee Ernie and, three times a week, Perry Como.

They feel that this strip is necessary.

Here's a trick of the ventriloquist's trade. On Jimmy Nelson's "Come Closer" show (ABC-TV), he operates his dog-dummy, Farfel, from 15 feet away. The dog's jaws open and close, just as though it were on Jimmy's lap.

It's done with compressed air, and a long rubber hose. Now you know.

Mrs. Roosevelt Unhurt As Movie Light Pops

Hollywood, Nov. 6 (AP)—A big spotlight exploded while Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was visiting a movie set yesterday. She was unhurt.

The widow of the late President had just walked onto a Paramount Studios set when the 1,000-watt light exploded with a roar during the making of the film The Desperate Hours. Humphrey Bogart, one of the stars in the picture, was cut by flying glass, as were three crew members.

Mrs. Roosevelt was only three feet away when the big light exploded.

"I ducked," she said.

Marilyn Hospital Bound

Hollywood, Nov. 6 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe is going to the hospital tomorrow for what her doctor says is "minor surgery." The operation will be performed Monday morning by Dr. Leon Krohn, gynecologist. While Miss Monroe is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital a complete diagnosis will be made to determine the reason for her recent ill health. The actreess has just completed a movie and is on vacation from Twentieth Century-Fox Studio.

UNTRUSTING FAMILY

A man writes: "The following situation came up recently and as it has caused some criticism I am writing to get your opinion on the matter. I invited an old college friend of mine (a bachelor) to come and visit me and my family for a week. No sooner had he arrived when I was called away unexpectedly on business and had to go out of town for a few days. My friend stayed on at the house with my wife and young daughter. It seems this has shocked several members of my family who think that it was against all rules of propriety to have him stay in the house while I was gone. I think the whole thing is ridiculous, but just for the sake of peace, will you please settle this controversy which is still go on."

I definitely share your opinion!

Jealous Husband?

Dear Mrs. Post: An issue has come up between my husband and me that we would like you to settle. He says that it is wrong for me to speak first to a neighbor or a casual acquaintance of the opposite sex and that people will think I am flirting. I told him that I had been taught that it is a woman's privilege to speak first. He says he never heard of such a thing, that no lady would speak to a man unless he spoke to her, and then it was her privilege to recognize him or not as she chose.

Answer: I'm very sorry to have to disagree completely with your husband. I have never heard of such a rule as he suggests. On the contrary, you are right. It is the woman who should speak first.

Colored Ink

Dear Mrs. Post: I just bought green ink to use on some green stationery that was given to me, and now I've found out that it is wrong to use green ink when writing letters. Is this true? If so, why is green ink in bad taste and not red, purple, or brown, and why is green ink sold if it is wrong to use?

Answer: There are lots of things on the market that are in bad taste. Green, red and brown ink are equally bad. Black or blue are in best taste.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

At last, the TV networks got themselves a real spectacular. Election night, of course.

Maybe there's something wrong with America's caricaturists. The Caricaturists Society of America, picking the "10 most-stimulating women in America," included Sheree North on their list. Nothing wrong with that, of course, but they singled out Miss North's jowls for their approval.

Funny, but I never even thought about her jowls.

You just never know where you'll find a sensitive soul. One lurks deep down inside that strapping, handsome actor, John Hodiak, now gainfully employed as Maryk in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" on Broadway.

After some pleasant conversation about the play and television and a few other routine subjects, suddenly a nerve was touched and Hodiak's eyes glittered and his voice grew excited. That nerve was one called "ambition."

"My ambition?" echoed Hodiak. "I want to do a kid's program. In a year or so. No hurry. I want to do it right. I've thought a lot about it and I want to do it right. A young man should do a show for kids — not some old Uncle Fuddy-Duddy."

Who would have thought it? Turns out children are one of John Hodiak's great interests, starting with his own three-year-old daughter and extending outward. And one of these years, he'll be on TV with a children's program and be a happy man.

Not that he's unhappy now. He likes his role in Herman Wouk's great play. In fact, he probably set a world's speed record for accepting the part. Producer Paul Gregory called him and asked two questions—"Have you read the book, 'The Caine Mutiny'?" and "Would you like to play Maryk?"—and Hodiak's two affirmative answers got him the job.

And he's gotten used to being in a Broadway show, although that took some doing. At first, he didn't know what to do with himself Sundays, and he used to try going away for the weekend. ("It was too hectic.") Now on Sundays he holes up in his apartment with the Sunday papers and the radio and just relaxes.

And between the matinee and evening performances on Wednesdays and Saturdays used to be a problem. Now he goes over to Sardi's for a leisurely, light dinner, talks to friends "to find out what's new with their kids," and goes back to the dressing room and rests. On Saturdays now, he watches the football games with the rest of the cast on a new TV set in a dressing room.

So it's a nice life. But just wait until he has that children's program.

Bing Crosby's new series on CBS-Radio—15 minutes, five days a week—is another step in that network's revised philosophy of how radio can meet TV competition. It's a system known technically as "strip booking"—meaning the same show in the same time every night. That's the system used for years in daytime radio, and CBS feels it may be the salvation for nighttime radio, too.

The object, says an intra-office CBS memorandum, is to "create programs worth remembering and schedule them in times easy to remember." Already the network has about two hours of strip booking—Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Lowell Thomas, Edward R. Murrow. Tennessee Ernie and, three times a week, Perry Como.

They feel that this strip is necessary.

Here's a trick of the ventriloquist's trade. On Jimmy Nelson's "Come Closer" show (ABC-TV), he operates his dog-dummy, Farfel, from 15 feet away. The dog's jaws open and close, just as though it were on Jimmy's lap.

It's done with compressed air, and a long rubber hose. Now you know.

Mrs. Roosevelt Unhurt As Movie Light Pops

Hollywood, Nov. 6 (AP)—A big spotlight exploded while Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was visiting a movie set yesterday. She was unhurt.

The widow of the late President had just walked onto a Paramount Studios set when the 1,000-watt light exploded with a roar during the making of the film The Desperate Hours. Humphrey Bogart, one of the stars in the picture, was cut by flying glass, as were three crew members.

Mrs. Roosevelt was only three feet away when the big light exploded.

"I ducked," she said.

Marilyn Hospital Bound

Hollywood, Nov. 6 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe is going to the hospital tomorrow for what her doctor says is "minor surgery." The operation will be performed Monday morning by Dr. Leon Krohn, gynecologist. While Miss Monroe is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital a complete diagnosis will be made to determine the reason for her recent ill health. The actress has just completed a movie and is on vacation from Twentieth Century-Fox Studio.

VPI Wins Seventh, BC Tops Marquette

(The Associated Press)

The unbeaten but once-tied Gobblers of Virginia Polytechnic Institute put in a bid for a bowl game today hours before the nation's top ranking college football teams swung into action in contests that could go a long ways toward deciding the lineups for the Jan. 1 games.

VPI defeated George Washington 20-13 in one of last night's top games for its seventh victory. The only blot on the Gobblers' record is a 7-7 tie with William and Mary. Only unimpressive Waynesburg and traditional rival, VMI, remain to bar VPI's first undefeated season in the school's modern history.

The underdog Boston College Eagles uncorked a fine running attack to whip Marquette 13-7 in near-freezing weather at Milwaukee and Kansas State romped over Drake 53-18 in other leading contests last night.

OF THE NATION'S top ten, Ohio State and Arkansas—both undefeated and bowl-conscious—face the biggest problems today. A defeat by Pitt's surging Panthers wouldn't injure the Buckeyes' Rose Bowl chances but it would be mighty humiliating for the Big Ten team, ranked second nationally.

But Arkansas (No. 4) has a "must" game with Rice. The Porkers, aiming to represent the southwest conference in the Cotton Bowl, cannot afford to lose this conference fray. They are primed to stop Rice's Dick Moegle.

Baylor, still in the southwest conference title picture, is a 4-point favorite to take Texas in the nationally televised game of the day (ABC 3 p. m., EST). There may be plenty of fireworks in this traditionally wild and wooly encounter.

ONLY PURDUE of the other teams in the top ten, figure to have any difficulty. The No. 8 ranked Boilermakers face Iowa's tough line at Iowa City. Lenny Dawson may have difficulty making his passes click against the Hawkeyes' defense.

No. 1 ranked UCLA, with a powerful point-making machine geared to Primo Villanueva, is a three-touchdown choice over Oregon at Los Angeles. Oklahoma's No. 3 ranked Sooners should romp over Iowa State, as should the Irish of Notre Dame (No. 5) over winless Pennsylvania.

MIAMI OF FLORIDA, ranked sixth and one of the fading group of unbeaten major outfits, is a slight choice over Auburn at Birmingham.

Once-beaten Army, undefeated since losing to South Carolina in its opening game, and Yale, unbeaten but tied by Colgate, play before 70,000 at New Haven. It's the first time since 1937 that the Yale Bowl has seen a sell-out. Off comparative scores, the seventh-ranked Cadets should have no trouble.

Mississippi (No. 9) has a breather against Memphis State and Southern California (No. 10) shouldn't find Stanford any barrier to a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Peoria Five Wins Second World Title

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 6 (AP)—Basketball as played in the country of its origin is still the best as proved by the Peoria (Ill.) Caterpillars in winning the second world tournament last night.

The Caterpillars completed an all-victorious march through the tournament by defeating previously unbeaten Brazil 62-41 in the deciding game before a capacity crowd of 15,408. The 'Cats won two games in the preliminary round and then brushed aside the Philippines, France, Uruguay, Canada, Nationalist China and Israel, in addition to Brazil in the round-robin final round.

Brazil finished second, beaten only by the United States. The Philippines wound up third after bowing to the two leaders in the final round. France was fourth with a 3-4 record. Uruguay, Canada and China each won two of seven games and Israel brought up the rear with 1-6.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

Down in my gun room the other evening I was messing around with woolen underwear and boots when my wife popped in.

Being a knowledgeable dame, she refrained from asking the obvious question. I didn't have to tell her I was getting my hunting outfits ready for fall operations. But she did want to know why I had one corner of the room all cluttered up with fishing tackle.

Now far be it from me to be tagged Benedict Arnold by the shooting fraternity, or called a shill for the tackle makers. But a guy traipsing off on a wilderness country hunt this fall where there may be any fishing seasons is plumb nuts if he doesn't take along a fishpole.

UP IN YUKON territory one fall, camped in the Dall sheep country alongside Gladstone Creek, I had to lay around a couple of days, temporarily unable to fork a horse or scramble up a shale slide. A very frustrating business.

But that creek, 20 feet back of the cook tent, was loaded with grayling, nice ones 16 to 20 inches long, with those beautiful sail-like dorsal fins and capacity for aerial acrobatics that would shame a rainbow.

Odd grayling in that they didn't prefer dry flies—mebbe because it was too close to that blizzard season up that high—but instead glommed on to whatever by way of flashing metal or wiggler you could jiggle through a pool. A nice change in the supper skillet and certainly a lifesaver during the forced inactivity.

Then there was the trip up into southeastern Alaska where the chap with me ran into slow going on his second brown bear, so I had three or four days to kill after finishing out my own license for two bruins.

WE POKED AROUND in a couple of creeks and found a bunch of fresh run cohoes, the brilliant jumpers that are called silvers in some sections of the coast. They'll take a lure while still in the first two or three pools over tide-water, and will raise your blood pressure plenty.

I had only a four-ounce flyrod with an ordinary 30-yard line, no backing, but still managed to take a few up to 15 pounds. How come? Well, for some reason those jet-powered leapers never get into their heads to turn straight downstream for the salt, but stayed in the one pool, whipping it to a froth and themselves into gaping exhaustion with one jump after another.

So stick a rod and some tackle on the odd chance of wilderness use. After all, you may want a change from a straight diet of elk steaks or roast sheep, and trout go better than sardines any day.

DeMarco Risks His Win Streak Tonight

Boston, Nov. 6 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, the seventh ranked welterweight from Boston's north end, meets slugging Pat Manzi of Syracuse tonight in a nationally televised 10 round bout at the arena.

DeMarco risks a string of 14 consecutive victories against his free-swinging opponent in a match to be beamed across the nation (ABC) at 9 p. m., EST., with New England blacked out.

Manzi, 27, holds a knockout win over Joe Miceli and has a decision over Al Andrews. In his last fight, DeMarco knocked out Danish champion Chris Christensen in the fifth round.

If Tony, the young man they say has a future, can get by Manzi, reportedly the hardest puncher he's faced to date, he'll be aiming for a fight with Vince Martinez.

Favors Federal Ban

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Louis Radzienda, a national boxing official and member of the Illinois Athletic Commission, yesterday suggested a federal ban on professional boxing for at least a year to investigate "alleged hoodlum elements" connected with the sport. Radzienda, first vice president of the National Boxing Assn., said "hoodlum association" with boxing "has been in existence for a long time, but with more power and strength today."

Cops 36th Victory

Baker, Winner Over Slade, Claims Hard Work Pays Off

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Big Bob Baker had a confession to make after last night's sharp victory over hustling Jimmy Slade of New York in a nationally televised 10 round fight at the arena.

"It pays to train hard," said the Pittsburgh Negro as he sat on his dressing room table accepting congratulations on his 36th victory in 42 fights.

"I worked hard for this fight. I did two miles of road work every day for two months. I was really in shape and it showed in my performance."

Even the opposing camp, Slade and his manager Al Joyner, had to agree with Baker. Down the hall in Slade's dressing quarters, Joyner said he thought Baker was in the best shape of his career.

"They isolated the big guy for two months. He did nothing but work. He hasn't been in such good shape in four years," said Joyner of Pittsburgh Bob. "He's a good fighter."

AS FOR SLADE, the New York state champion was disgusted with his work. He said the seven month layoff hurt him. Slade hadn't fought since last April 26 when he fractured his left hand beating Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

"I couldn't get going. I wasn't keen or sharp. I moved off balance, awkwardly and was caught with punches I should have blocked or ducked," said the 28-year-old Slade.

Actually, Slade had nothing to be ashamed of. He simply was overpowered. At 179½, Slade gave away 31½ pounds to Baker. The aggressive New York Negro had to punch at long range and get on his bicycle to keep out of range of the powerful Baker counters.

While Slade was a moving, bobbing, weaving target, Baker kept plodding around the ring, shooting strong right and left hand counters that shook Slade to his toes. Several times, Baker smashed Slade with a short right uppercut that sent Jimmy crashing into the ropes.

BAKER APPEARED slow on foot, but he was lightning fast with his fists.

The decision for Baker was unanimous with Judge Paul Stilley carding it 6-2-2; Judge Bill Yancey 7-2-1; Referee Zach Clayton 6-3-1. The Associated Press scored it 7-2-1.

Blinkered Hoople Does It From Memory and Habit; Picks Bulldog Over Army

By MAJ. AMOS B. HOOPLE
(QUOITS AND QUARTETS)

Egad, gentle readers! Let me quote from my book, "Quoits and and Quartets" to give you a picture of what I am enduring.

"Put a man in the public eye," I wrote "and the people at once start trying to devise ways to pillory him!"

That has happened to me, of all people!

Sure, I know I picked Navy over Notre Dame, but how did I know a Navy back would plunge over the Irish goal line and forget to bring the ball with him. Sure, Minnesota beat Michigan State; ULCA whomped California; Oklahoma beat Colorado (by how much). What about it?

SEVERAL LETTERS couched in brusque English have impertinently asked what I ever accomplished in life that I should be regarded as a football expert.

It is a long story, replete with brilliant deeds and feats of derring-do. At the age of seven I was playing the world's chess masters, and wearing blinkers—er, I mean blindfolds—at that. Back in the days of the great Dunbar and Griggs, I was a champion at curling sometimes called bowling on ice, the ancient Scottist sport.

A. and S. E. Swann, the great scullers of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, once praised me lavishly after a solo exhibition I staged on the Thames. The great Alfredo de Ore of pocket billiards fame used to study my style. The heavyweight James J. Jeffries learned about infighting from my bouts at the Owls Club—har-rumph!

Do these snarling jackals need any more credentials?

NOW FOR THE two picks of the week I give you Kingston High over Lawrence and Yale over Army. Yep, the Bulldog over the Mule! That should make my good friend, John D. Schoonmaker, feel good. This is I can assure you, a more accurate prophecy than the recent election polls.

And my good friend, Bill Burke's Maroons, should be as hot as they were against Valley Stream!

So, now in my weekly moment of wisdom I give you the forecasts, and actual score, no less:

Yale 14, Army 13
Boston 27, Villanova 14
Columbia 14, Dartmouth 6
Syracuse 13, Cornell 7
Harvard 7, Princeton 0
Duke 20, Navy 13

Disturbing reports of bowlers deliberately tossing gutter balls in the late frames to hold down handicaps have been reaching this department of late.

The keglers who resort to such tactics are only kidding themselves. All the league has to do in such cases where the evidence is factual is file charges against the bowler through the Kingston Bowling Association. Which in turn presents the case to the American Bowling Congress for final disposition. What generally follows is fatal to the bowler.

The men who resort to such fraudulent tactics are handled by the ABC in several categories of violations. The "suspended bowlers" list of the ABC is filled with the names of bowlers who tried to play cute and wound up with long term suspensions or being barred for life.

That's a pretty stiff price to pay in exchange for the measly few pins by which a team average can be reduced by a few deliberately pointed gutter balls. The last guy we heard pulling the trick has been around long enough to know better. We hope he reforms before the ABC guillotine comes crashing down on his neck.

Specifically, such a bowler can be suspended or banished for life for: 1, conduct derogatory to the best interests of the game of tenpins. 2, deliberately holding down average in order to gain unfair advantage in league play or handicap tournaments. (Rule 26).

• The Eleventh Frame:

Gerry Reeds' 212 in the Woman's Classic was the first '200' slam of her career. Dick Talleur opened with nine in a row for his 276 blast in the Central Hudson League. The "111 Club" membership list grew by leaps and bounds the past few days. Recently initiated were: Fritzi Davis, Luella Port, Marie Mathews, Esther Bahl (2), Pat Hayman, Vesta Hornbeck, Elsie Wey and Florence Beichert. There were others, too, including Ivan Mallow, Robert Hogan, Peggy Rosinski, Yo Banicasa, E. Krein, Fran Hogan, Terry Beckert, Sue Healy, Gladys DeCicco, Peggy Lester, George Baker, Don Briggs, Roy Van Wagner, Leila Elmendorf, R. Stewart. . . . That was quite a topsy-turvy series Herbie Houghtaling experienced, 205-116-213. It would be interesting to compare averages in the first four weeks of play in this season's Ferraro Major with the 1953-54 edition.

• Jake Chichelsky's Corner:

Around The Wheels: Newcombe Oilmen are out to repeat as Classic League champions. Add to those out of retirement: Eddie Heins. Ronnie Mauro should be returning to league action soon. Early season sharpshooters in the Tavern Association are Ferrell McElrath, Charlie Bock, Eddie Auclair. Cosmos 'Coke' Costello is trying a comeback in the Classic. American Legion is the team to watch in the Junior Major. The Central Rec Major is just another league without the colorful Tony's Pizzeria brigade. Dot Rawding is No. 1 keglerette in the Friendship. . . . Joe Ausanio has replaced Tom Amato on the Elston squad in the HVBL. Tab Shirley Buckman as one of the future stars among women. Charlotte Lapine hits the pocket probably better than any woman in the city except Rose Schatzel. Joe Epstein's early season pace makers in the City Minor. . . . French Dye Works of the Good Neighbor League has the only all-southpaw team in local leagues. Several teams had to be revamped in order to create the all-portside squad. The answer to last week's quiz: The only states in the nation without ABC sanctioned bowling are New Hampshire and Rhode Island. This week's quiz: How many "300" games have been bowled in Hudson Valley League competition?

Quote of the Week: "We have always been of the opinion that the prize fund should be reserved for the bowlers who contributed. Then if they feel that their league secretary has had a hard year and could use a week or two in Florida or Mexico (or a couple of days at Santa Anita) they should vote the hardwork soul a tidy sum from the fund to take care of his expenses while away." Jesse Dudley, California Bowling News.

Baylor-Texas TV Game of Day

Waco, Tex., Nov. 6 (AP)—Baylor and Texas, a couple of teams that usually keep the scoreboard busy when they play, clash today before the nation's television audience. It's a game of great importance to both—tangible for Baylor, intangible for Texas.

The crowd of 35,000 or more and the millions, who view it on TV—it's the nationally televised game of the week—may be treated to the wildest offensive struggle of the season in these parts.

If past games are a criterion, the last team with the ball will win and it'll be along about the time when the clock runs out.

IN TWO YEARS only three points have separated the teams. Both games were won by Texas—35-33 in 1952 and 21-20 last year. The triumph each time was a stepping stone for Texas to the Southwest Conference throneroom.

There's no such prize up for Texas this time, however. The Longhorns have lost two and tied one and are out of the race. But Baylor can keep its hopes alive of at least sharing the title if it can hurdle a team it has beaten only once in 12 years.

Baylor has rolled to a smashing 321.3 yards per game this season but Texas ranks away down on offense. However, the Longhorns showed a marked upward trend last week as they fought Southern Methodist to a 13-13 tie, dominating the last half like a blanket.

The kickoff is at 3 p. m. EST.

Twaalfskill Meeting

The annual meeting of Twaalfskill Club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 8 p. m. at the club house. All members are invited to attend.

Of the 60 man grid squad at Duke University, 30 players hail from North Carolina.

TOP THIS FISH STORY!—They laughed when Lawrence R. Gee, of Hutchinson, Kan., threaded his fishing line through a small drain hole in a downtown street. But Gee had the last laugh when he hauled a two-pound catfish out of the hole. The street runs across a creek and the hole, says Gee, is the best way to fish in the dark, cool water underneath. Only trouble is that if he hooks a fish much larger than the opening, he has to cut his line, as the fish won't go through.

Beaury Leads With 611; Logan Shoots 251 Solo

Rudy Beaury of the Everybody's League and Dewey Logan of the veteran Nocando circuit emerged as the top bowlers in Friday's full schedule of league competition.

Beaury topped the triple shooters with a solid 611 blast, helped along with a neat 236 singleton, while Logan sandwiched a sizzling 251 solo between counts of 166 and 151 for the high mark in that department.

The only other kegler to reach the 600 circle last night was Dick Waltman who fired 225-604 to head the Ferraro Classic League at the Bowlodrome.

ROSE SCHATZEL continued her pin-busting spree with a 550 to lead the Women's Classic at the Bowlodrome where Eleanor Singer furnished a 203 solo. D. Potts topped the Nite Cap in New Paltz with 175-483 while Ellen Hendricks hit 362 to lead the IBM Women's League in Rosendale.

Art "Spider" Parks rolled 204-201 gor 583 to trail Beaury in the Everybody's wheel. Fred Schryver, rolling in two games, had a 235 in his second to trail Beaury's 236 by a single pin.

VPI Wins Seventh, BC Tops Marquette

(The Associated Press)

The unbeaten but once-tied Gobblers of Virginia Polytechnic Institute put in a bid for a bowl game today hours before the nation's top ranking college football teams swung into action in contests that could go a long ways toward deciding the lineups for the Jan. 1 games.

VPI defeated George Washington 20-13 in one of last night's top games for its seventh victory. The only blot on the Gobblers' record is a 7-7 tie with William and Mary. Only unimpressive Waynesburg and traditional rival, VMI, remain to bar VPI's first undefeated season in the school's modern history.

The underdog Boston College Eagles uncorked a fine running attack to whip Marquette 13-7 in near-freezing weather at Milwaukee and Kansas State romped over Drake 53-18 in other leading contests last night.

OF THE NATION'S top ten, Ohio State and Arkansas—both undefeated and bowl-conscious—face the biggest problems today. A defeat by Pitt's surging Panthers wouldn't injure the Buckeyes' Rose Bowl chances but it would be mighty humiliating for the Big Ten team, ranked second nationally.

But Arkansas (No. 4) has a "must" game with Rice. The Porkers, aiming to represent the southwest conference in the Cotton Bowl, cannot afford to lose this conference fray. They are primed to stop Rice's Dick Moegle.

Baylor, still in the southwest conference title picture, is a 4-point favorite to take Texas in the nationally televised game of the day (ABC 3 p. m., EST). There may be plenty of fireworks in this traditionally wild and wooly encounter.

ONLY PURDUE of the other teams in the top ten, figure to have any difficulty. The No. 8 ranked Boilermakers face Iowa's tough line at Iowa City. Lenny Dawson may have difficulty making his passes click against the Hawkeyes' defense.

No. 1 ranked UCLA, with a powerful point-making machine geared to Primo Villanueva, is a three-touchdown choice over Oregon at Los Angeles. Oklahoma's No. 3 ranked Sooners should romp over Iowa State, as should the Irish of Notre Dame (No. 5) over winless Pennsylvania.

MIAMI OF FLORIDA, ranked sixth and one of the fading group of unbeaten major outfits, is a slight choice over Auburn at Birmingham.

Once-beaten Army, undefeated since losing to South Carolina in its opening game, and Yale, unbeaten but tied by Colgate, play before 70,000 at New Haven. It's the first time since 1937 that the Yale Bowl has seen a sell-out. Off comparative scores, the seventh-ranked Cadets should have no trouble.

Mississippi (No. 9) has a breather against Memphis State and Southern California (No. 10) shouldn't find Stanford any barrier to a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Peoria Five Wins Second World Title

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 6 (AP)—Basketball as played in the country of its origin is still the best as proved by the Peoria (Ill.) Caterpillars in winning the second world tournament last night.

The Caterpillars completed an all-victorious march through the tournament by defeating previously unbeaten Brazil 62-41 in the deciding game before a capacity crowd of 15,408. The 'Cats won two games in the preliminary round and then brushed aside the Philippines, France, Uruguay, Canada, Nationalist China and Israel, in addition to Brazil in the round-robin final round.

Brazil finished second, beaten only by the United States. The Philippines wound up third after bowing to the two leaders in the final round. France was fourth with a 3-4 record. Uruguay, Canada and China each won two of seven games and Israel brought up the rear with 1-6.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

Down in my gun room the other evening I was messing around with woolen underwear and boots when my wife popped in.

Being a knowledgeable dame, she refrained from asking the obvious question. I didn't have to tell her I was getting my hunting outfits ready for fall operations. But she did want to know why I had one corner of the room all cluttered up with fishing tackle.

Now far be it from me to be tagged Benedict Arnold by the shooting fraternity, or called a shill for the tackle makers. But a guy traipsing off on a wilderness country hunt this fall where there may be any fishing seasons is plumb nuts if he doesn't take along a fishpole.

UP IN YUKON territory one fall, camped in the Dall sheep country alongside Gladstone Creek, I had to lay around a couple of days, temporarily unable to fork a horse or scramble up a shale slide. A very frustrating business.

But that creek, 20 feet back of the cook tent, was loaded with grayling, nice ones 16 to 20 inches long, with those beautiful sail-like dorsal fins and capacity for aerial acrobatics that would shame a rainbow.

Odd grayling in that they didn't prefer dry flies—mebbe because it was too close to that blizzard season up that high—but instead glommed on to whatever by way of flashing metal or wiggler you could jiggle through a pool. A nice change in the supper skillet and certainly a lifesaver during the forced inactivity.

Then there was the trip up into southeastern Alaska where the chap with me ran into slow going on his second brown bear, so I had three or four days to kill after finishing out my own license for two bruins.

WE POKED AROUND in a couple of creeks and found a bunch of fresh run cohoes, the brilliant jumpers that are called silvers in some sections of the coast. They'll take a lure while still in the first two or three pools over tide-water, and will raise your blood pressure plenty.

I had only a four-ounce flyrod with an ordinary 30-yard line, no backing, but still managed to take a few up to 15 pounds. How come? Well, for some reason those jet-powered leapers never get into their heads to turn straight downstream for the salt, but stayed in the one pool, whipping it to a froth and themselves into gaping exhaustion with one jump after another.

So stick a rod and some tackle on the odd chance of wilderness use. After all, you may want a change from a straight diet of elk steaks or roast sheep, and trout go better than sardines any day.

DeMarco Risks His Win Streak Tonight

Boston, Nov. 6 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, the seventh ranked welterweight from Boston's north end, meets slugging Pat Manzi of Syracuse tonight in a nationally televised 10 round bout at the arena.

DeMarco risks a string of 14 consecutive victories against his free-swinging opponent in a match to be beamed across the nation (ABC) at 9 p. m., EST., with New England blacked out.

Manzi, 27, holds a knockout win over Joe Miceli and has a decision over Al Andrews. In his last fight, DeMarco knocked out Danish champion Chris Christensen in the fifth round.

If Tony, the young man they say has a future, can get by Manzi, reportedly the hardest puncher he's faced to date, he'll be aiming for a fight with Vince Martinez.

Favors Federal Ban

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Louis Radzienda, a national boxing official and member of the Illinois Athletic Commission, yesterday suggested a federal ban on professional boxing for at least a year to investigate "alleged hoodlum elements" connected with the sport. Radzienda, first vice president of the National Boxing Assn., said "hoodlum association" with boxing "has been in existence for a long time, but with more power and strength today."

Cops 36th Victory

Baker, Winner Over Slade, Claims Hard Work Pays Off

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Big Bob Baker had a confession to make after last night's sharp victory over hustling Jimmy Slade of New York in a nationally televised 10 round fight at the arena.

"It pays to train hard," said the Pittsburgh Negro as he sat on his dressing room table accepting congratulations on his 36th victory in 42 fights.

"I worked hard for this fight. I did two miles of road work every day for two months. I was really in shape and it showed in my performance."

Even the opposing camp, Slade and his manager Al Joyner, had to agree with Baker. Down the hall in Slade's dressing quarters, Joyner said he thought Baker was in the best shape of his career.

"They isolated the big guy for two months. He did nothing but work. He hasn't been in such good shape in four years," said Joyner of Pittsburgh Bob. "He's a good fighter."

AS FOR SLADE, the New York state champion was disgusted with his work. He said the seven month layoff hurt him. Slade hadn't fought since last April 26 when he fractured his left hand beating Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

"I couldn't get going. I wasn't keen or sharp. I moved off balance, awkwardly and was caught with punches I should have blocked or ducked," said the 28-year-old Slade.

Actually, Slade had nothing to be ashamed of. He simply was overpowered. At 179½, Slade gave away 31½ pounds to Baker. The aggressive New York Negro had to punch at long range and get on his bicycle to keep out of range of the powerful Baker counters.

While Slade was a moving, bobbing, weaving target, Baker kept plodding around the ring, shooting strong right and left hand counters that shook Slade to his toes. Several times, Baker smashed Slade with a short right uppercut that sent Jimmy crashing into the ropes.

BAKER APPEARED slow on foot, but he was lightning fast with his fists.

The decision for Baker was unanimous with Judge Paul Stilley carding it 6-2-2; Judge Bill Yancey 7-2-1; Referee Zach Clayton 6-3-1. The Associated Press scored it 7-2-1.

Blinkered Hoople Does It From Memory and Habit; Picks Bulldog Over Army

By MAJ. AMOS B. HOOPLE
(QUOITS AND QUARTETS)

Egad, gentle readers! Let me quote from my book, "Quoits and and Quartets" to give you a picture of what I am enduring.

"Put a man in the public eye," I wrote "and the people at once start trying to devise ways to pillory him!"

That has happened to me, of all people!

Sure, I know I picked Navy over Notre Dame, but how did I know a Navy back would plunge over the Irish goal line and forget to bring the ball with him. Sure, Minnesota beat Michigan State; ULCA whomped California; Oklahoma beat Colorado (by how much). What about it?

SEVERAL LETTERS couched in brusque English have impertinently asked what I ever accomplished in life that I should be regarded as a football expert.

It is a long story, replete with brilliant deeds and feats of derring-do. At the age of seven I was playing the world's chess masters, and wearing blinkers—er, I mean blindfolds—at that. Back in the days of the great Dunbar and Griggs, I was a champion at curling sometimes called bowling on ice, the ancient Scottist sport.

A. and S. E. Swann, the great scullers of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, once praised me lavishly after a solo exhibition I staged on the Thames. The great Alfredo de Ore of pocket billiards fame used to study my style. The heavyweight James J. Jeffries learned about infighting from my bouts at the Owls Club—har-rumph!

Do these snarling jackals need any more credentials?

NOW FOR THE two picks of the week I give you Kingston High over Lawrence and Yale over Army. Yep, the Bulldog over the Mule! That should make my good friend, John D. Schoonmaker, feel good. This is I can assure you, a more accurate prophecy than the recent election polls.

And my good friend, Bill Burke's Maroons, should be as hot as they were against Valley Stream!

So, now in my weekly moment of wisdom I give you the forecasts, and actual score, no less:

Yale 14, Army 13
Boston 27, Villanova 14
Columbia 14, Dartmouth 6
Syracuse 13, Cornell 7
Harvard 7, Princeton 0
Duke 20, Navy 13
Penn State 14, Holy Cross 6

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

Disturbing reports of bowlers deliberately tossing gutter balls in the late frames to hold down handicaps have been reaching this department of late.

The keglers who resort to such tactics are only kidding themselves. All the league has to do in such cases where the evidence is factual is file charges against the bowler through the Kingston Bowling Association. Which in turn presents the case to the American Bowling Congress for final disposition. What generally follows is fatal to the bowler.

The men who resort to such fraudulent tactics are handled by the ABC in several categories of violations. The "suspended bowlers" list of the ABC is filled with the names of bowlers who tried to play cute and wound up with long term suspensions or being barred for life.

That's a pretty stiff price to pay in exchange for the measly few pins by which a team average can be reduced by a few deliberately pointed gutter balls. The last guy we heard pulling the trick has been around long enough to know better. We hope he reforms before the ABC guillotine comes crashing down on his neck.

Specifically, such a bowler can be suspended or banished for life for: 1, conduct derogatory to the best interests of the game of tenpins, 2, deliberately holding down average in order to gain unfair advantage in league play or handicap tournaments. (Rule 26).

• The Eleventh Frame:

Gerry Reeds' 212 in the Woman's Classic was the first '200' slam of her career. Dick Talleur opened with nine in a row for his 276 blast in the Central Hudson League. The "111 Club" membership list grew by leaps and bounds the past few days. Recently initiated were: Fritzi Davis, Luella Port, Marie Mathews, Esther Bahl (2), Pat Hayman, Vesta Hornbeck, Elsie Wey and Florence Beichert. There were others, too, including Ivan Mallow, Robert Hogan, Peggy Rosinski, Yo Banicasa, E. Krein, Fran Hogan, Terry Beckert, Sue Healy, Gladys DeCicco, Peggy Lester, George Baker, Don Briggs, Roy Van Wagner, Leila Elmendorf, R. Stewart. . . . That was quite a topsy-turvy series Herbie Houghtaling experienced, 205-116-213. It would be interesting to compare averages in the first four weeks of play in this season's Ferraro Major with the 1953-54 edition.

• Jake Chichelsky's Corner:

Around The Wheels: Newcombe Oilmen are out to repeat as Classic League champions. Add to those out of retirement: Eddie Heins. Ronnie Mauro should be returning to league action soon. Early season sharpshooters in the Tavern Association are Ferrell McElrath, Charlie Bock, Eddie Auclair. Cosmos 'Coke' Costello is trying a comeback in the Classic. American Legion is the team to watch in the Junior Major. The Central Rec Major is just another league without the colorful Tony's Pizzeria brigade. Dot Rawding is No. 1 keglerette in the Friendship. . . . Joe Ausanio has replaced Tom Amato on the Elston squad in the HVBL. Tab Shirley Buckman as one of the future stars among women. Charlotte Lapine hits the pocket probably better than any woman in the city except Rose Schatzel. Joe Epstein's early season pace makers in the City Minor. . . . French Dye Works of the Good Neighbor League has the only all-southpaw team in local leagues. Several teams had to be revamped in order to create the all-portside squad. The answer to last week's quiz: The only states in the nation without ABC sanctioned bowling are New Hampshire and Rhode Island. This week's quiz: How many "300" games have been bowled in Hudson Valley League competition?

Quote of the Week: "We have always been of the opinion that the prize fund should be reserved for the bowlers who contributed. Then if they feel that their league secretary has had a hard year and could use a week or two in Florida or Mexico (or a couple of days at Santa Anita) they should vote the hardwork soul a tidy sum from the fund to take care of his expenses while away." Jesse Dudley, California Bowling News.

Baylor-Texas TV Game of Day

Waco, Tex., Nov. 6 (AP)—Baylor and Texas, a couple of teams that usually keep the scoreboard busy when they play, clash today before the nation's television audience. It's a game of great importance to both—tangible for Baylor, intangible for Texas.

The crowd of 35,000 or more and the millions, who view it on TV—it's the nationally televised game of the week—may be treated to the wildest offensive struggle of the season in these parts.

If past games are a criterion, the last team with the ball will win and it'll be along about the time when the clock runs out.

IN TWO YEARS only three points have separated the teams. Both games were won by Texas—35-33 in 1952 and 21-20 last year. The triumph each time was a stepping stone for Texas to the Southwest Conference throneroom.

There's no such prize up for Texas this time, however. The Longhorns have lost two and tied one and are out of the race. But Baylor can keep its hopes alive of at least sharing the title if it can hurdle a team it has beaten only once in 12 years.

Baylor has rolled to a smashing 321.3 yards per game this season but Texas ranks away down on offense. However, the Longhorns showed a marked upward trend last week as they fought Southern Methodist to a 13-13 tie, dominating the last half like a blanket.

The kickoff is at 3 p. m. EST.

Twaalfskill Meeting

The annual meeting of Twaalfskill Club will be held Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 8 p. m. at the club house. All members are invited to attend.

Of the 60 man grid squad at Duke University, 30 players hail from North Carolina.

TOP THIS FISH STORY!—They laughed when Lawrence R. Gee, of Hutchinson, Kan., threaded his fishing line through a small drain hole in a downtown street. But Gee had the last laugh when he hauled a two-pound catfish out of the hole. The street runs across a creek and the hole, says Gee, is the best way to fish in the dark, cool water underneath. Only trouble is that if he hooks a fish much larger than the opening, he has to cut his line, as the fish won't go through.

Beaury Leads With 611; Logan Shoots 251 Solo

Rudy Beaury of the Everybody's League and Dewey Logan of the veteran Nocando circuit emerged as the top bowlers in Friday's full schedule of league competition.

Beaury topped the triple shooters with a solid 611 blast, helped along with a neat 236 singleton, while Logan sandwiched a sizzling 251 solo between counts of 166 and 151 for the high mark in that department.

The only other kegler to reach the 600 circle last night was Dick Waltman who fired 225-604 to head the Ferraro Classic League at the Bowlodrome.

Police Shoot It Out In Mistake Holdup

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Two policemen in civilian clothes emptied their service revolvers at one another early today in a case of mistaken identities. One was wounded.

Patrolman Arnold Francis, 27, of the Port Authority police, saw two men beating up a third while he was driving home through Harlem.

He drew his revolver, got out, and took the two men into custody.

Detective Clarence Brown, 28, driving by, saw Francis covering the two men with the gun and thought a holdup was in progress.

He drew his revolver and got out. The exchange of gunfire followed. Francis was wounded in the left side and taken to a hospital.

The two men seized by Francis were taken to a police station but released when the man they allegedly assaulted could not be found to testify against them.

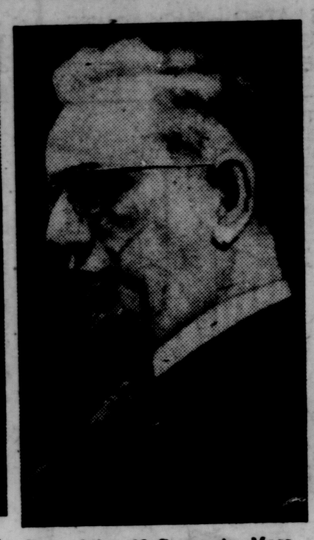
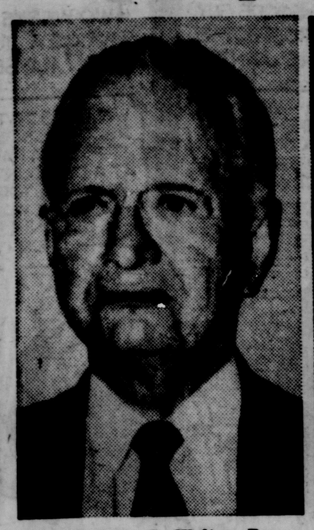
Democrats Take Over the Top House Jobs

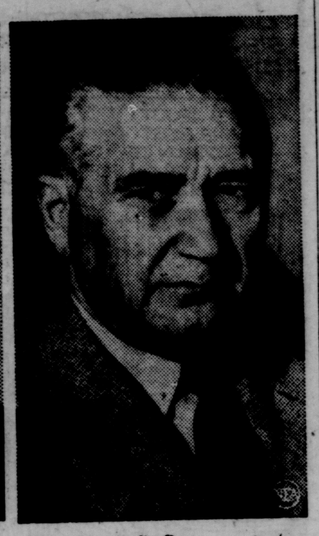
Rep. Sam Rayburn, Tex., as senior member of Congress (42 years), will become Speaker of the House. When Congress opens, the usually mild-mannered Texan will demand that the Republicans "put up or shut up" on their claims of mass dismissal of security risks.



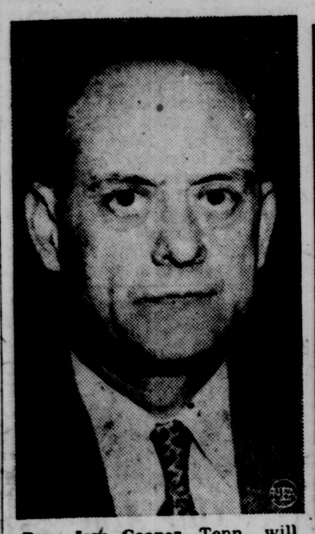
Rep. John McCormack, Mass., will be the majority leader of the House. He has been a member of Congress since 1928. He is an excellent orator and jester, but is a stickler for observing House rules. He's a strong defender of his party, its policies and leaders.



Rep. Francis E. Walter, Penn., takes over chairmanship of the highly controversial un-American Activities Committee. He declared that the first thing he will do in the new Congress is ask that his committee be abolished and transfer its functions elsewhere.

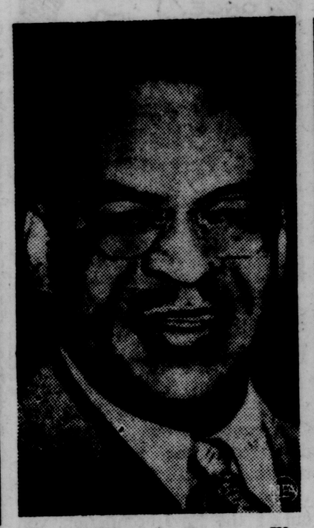


Rep. James P. Richards, S. C., will head the important Foreign Affairs Committee. Democrats say they will cooperate with President Eisenhower in favoring a nonpartisan policy. Richards has been a member of the lower House since 1933, and is experienced in this field.

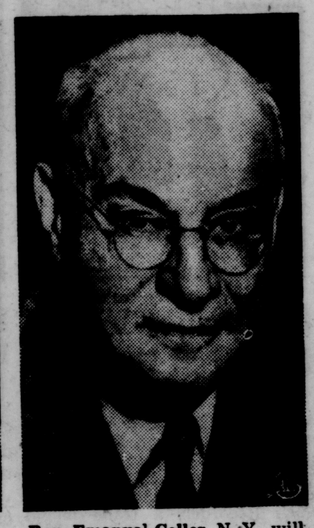


Rep. Jere Cooper, Tenn., will head the Ways and Means Committee during the 84th Congress. Any lowering of personal income tax, which Democrats are expected to push, will have to be initiated in this committee. GOP has vigorously opposed this in the past.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, Mo., will head the important Appropriations Committee. This and its Senate counterpart must pass on every appropriation. Democrats may hold back on funds for GOP bills they disapprove. A lawyer, he first came to Congress in 1923.



Rep. William L. Dawson, Ill., takes over the Government Operations Committee. This "watch dog" group, one of the most important committees, can investigate virtually anything it desires. Dawson has been in the House of Representatives since 1943.



Rep. Emanuel Celler, N. Y., will be in charge of the Judiciary Committee. If the un-American Activities Committee is abolished, this committee will inherit the Communist investigating functions which Dems say they will overhaul. He was first elected to Congress in 1923.

Hearing Is Scheduled On Survivors' Pay

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Rep. William H. Bates (R.-Mass.) says a congressional public hearing will be held in Washington this month on government benefits paid to survivors of Americans who died in military service.

Bates, chairman of a five-man committee to study the subject, said yesterday his committee had concluded three days of executive sessions here and had slated the public hearings for Nov. 17.

Bates said the hearings, expected to take about 10 days, will be the first "over-all appraisal" of benefits paid to about 475,000 widows and other beneficiaries.

The object of the inquiry, he said, is to provide a "more equitable program" and eliminate overlapping of five separate survivor benefit programs now operated by the Federal Government.

Terrorists Kill 20

Jakarta, Indonesia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Army authorities reported today that guerrillas of the outlawed Darul Islam Movement have killed 20 soldiers and civilians in a new wave of terrorist attacks in West Java. The rebels murdered six villagers and wounded four in raids Thursday night on six villages in the Tasikmalaja area, 50 miles southeast of Bandung. Sixty-four houses were plundered and burned, with damage estimated at three million rupiahs (about $300,000).

Kiddies Take Over

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The kiddies take over the National Horse Show today for two-day run that usually produces more emotional scenes than a 36-week revival of Hamlet. Over 250 boys and girls, all under 18, have entered the various classes that will be held in the tanbark ring of Madison Square Garden. Most of them have been schooling their ponies or horses for a whole year, just waiting for this day.

Less than three-fourths of those entered upon the registration roll cast their ballot here. Patrick O'Keefe of Boiceville early Wednesday morning was deputized to guard the voting machines pending the recount which was found to tally with the election board's figures. The Rebublicans maintained their traditionally heavy lead here.

Police Shoot It Out In Mistake Holdup

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Two policemen in civilian clothes emptied their service revolvers at one another early today in a case of mistaken identities. One was wounded.

Patrolman Arnold Francis, 27, of the Port Authority police, saw two men beating up a third while he was driving home through Harlem.

He drew his revolver, got out, and took the two men into custody.

Detective Clarence Brown, 28, driving by, saw Francis covering the two men with the gun and thought a holdup was in progress.

He drew his revolver and got out. The exchange of gunfire followed. Francis was wounded in the left side and taken to a hospital.

The two men seized by Francis were taken to a police station but released when the man they allegedly assaulted could not be found to testify against them.

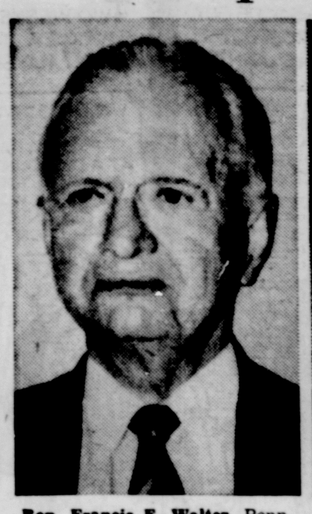
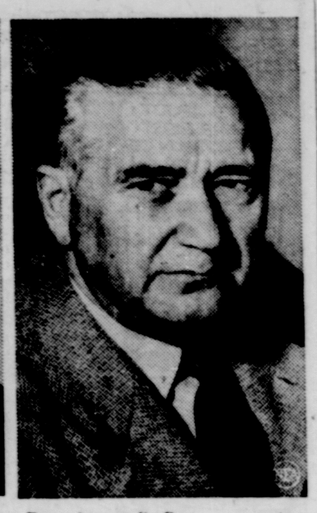
Democrats Take Over the Top House Jobs

Rep. Sam Rayburn, Tex., as senior member of Congress (42 years), will become Speaker of the House. When Congress opens, the usually mild-mannered Texan will demand that the Republicans "put up or shut up" on their claims of mass dismissal of security risks.

Rep. John McCormack, Mass., will be the majority leader of the House. He has been a member of Congress since 1928. He is an excellent orator and jester, but is a stickler for observing House rules. He's a strong defender of his party, its policies and leaders.



Rep. Francis E. Walter, Penn., takes over chairmanship of the highly controversial un-American Activities Committee. He declared that the first thing he will do in the new Congress is ask that his committee be abolished and transfer its functions elsewhere.

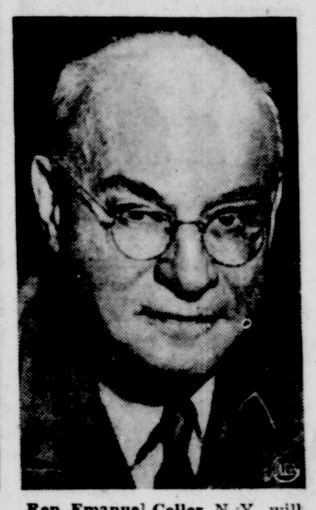


Rep. James P. Richards, S. C., will head the important Foreign Affairs Committee. Democrats say they will cooperate with President Eisenhower in favoring a nonpartisan policy. Richards has been a member of the lower House since 1933, and is experienced in this field.

Rep. Jere Cooper, Tenn., will head the Ways and Means Committee during the 84th Congress. Any lowering of personal income tax, which Democrats are expected to push, will have to be initiated in this committee. GOP has vigorously opposed this in the past.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, Mo., will head the important Appropriations Committee. This and its Senate counterpart must pass on every appropriation. Democrats may hold back on funds for GOP bills they disapprove. A lawyer, he first came to Congress in 1923.

Rep. William L. Dawson, Ill., takes over the Government Operations Committee. This "watch dog" group, one of the most important committees, can investigate virtually anything it desires. Dawson has been in the House of Representatives since 1943.



Rep. Emanuel Celler, N. Y., will be in charge of the Judiciary Committee. If the un-American Activities Committee is abolished, this committee will inherit the Communist investigating functions which Dems say they will overhaul. He was first elected to Congress in 1923.

Hearing Is Scheduled On Survivors' Pay

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Rep. William H. Bates (R.-Mass.) says a congressional public hearing will be held in Washington this month on government benefits paid to survivors of Americans who died in military service.

Bates, chairman of a five-man committee to study the subject, said yesterday his committee had concluded three days of executive sessions here and had slated the public hearings for Nov. 17.

Bates said the hearings, expected to take about 10 days, will be the first "over-all appraisal" of benefits paid to about 475,000 widows and other beneficiaries.

The object of the inquiry, he said, is to provide a "more equitable program" and eliminate overlapping of five separate survivor benefit programs now operated by the Federal Government:

Terrorists Kill 20

Jakarta, Indonesia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Army authorities reported today that guerrillas of the outlawed Darul Islam Movement have killed 20 soldiers and civilians in a new wave of terrorist attacks in West Java. The rebels murdered six villagers and wounded four in raids Thursday night on six villages in the Tasikmalaja area, 50 miles southeast of Bandung. Sixty-four houses were plundered and burned, with damage estimated at three million rupiahs (about $300,000).

Kiddies Take Over

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The kiddies take over the National Horse Show today for two-day run that usually produces more emotional scenes than a 36-week revival of Hamlet. Over 250 boys and girls, all under 18, have entered the various classes that will be held in the tanbark ring of Madison Square Garden. Most of them have been schooling their ponies or horses for a whole year, just waiting for this day.

Mr. Dean Cops

Yonkers, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mr. Dean, owned by the Saunders Mills Stable of Toledo, won the $4,000 Woodlawn Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night with Don Hall in the sulky. Titanic was second and Trustful Hanover third. Mr. Dean paid $10.40, $6.10 and $3.80 and paced the mile in 2:09.4 over a slow track.

Yoshida Warns Japan Is Real Red Goal

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida of Japan says the United States should not be deceived by the Communist peace offensive in Asia and that the Reds regard Japan as the "ultimate prize of their Pacific conquests."

In a speech to the Japan Society last night, Yoshida also said a stumbling block in his country's economic expansion is "widespread use of tariff barriers and import restrictions."

Earlier the prime minister received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Columbia University and was given an official city luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Yoshida was imprisoned by Japanese authorities during World War 2 as a pacifist and a liberal.

The prime minister was scheduled to leave today by plane for Albany, N. Y., to be a luncheon guest of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the executive mansion.

Democrats Wait

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—New Jersey Democratic leaders today awaited reports from County and Superior Courts on their move to have ballots in Tuesday's close senatorial election impounded. The Democratic high command sent lawyers out yesterday to ask for court orders putting the ballot boxes and voting machines under lock and key in central locations in each county. The Democrats took the action after the Republicans turned down their bid for a bipartisan request for impoundment. The Democratic candidate, Charles R. Howell, trails Republican Clifford P. Case by 3,308 votes in unofficial returns. Case's campaign manager has claimed victory but Howell has not conceded.

Airman Is Robbed As He Celebrates

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—Air Force Sgt. William C. Lawson, battered, bruised and nursing what he called "the granddaddy of all hangovers," is convinced some thief had a slight element of patriotism.

Thursday night, the 23-year-old airman began a tour of Oakland taverns, celebrating his re-enlistment into the air force. He had $1,600 in bonuses, back pay and travel expenses in his pocket.

He forgets exactly what happened. But he awoke early yesterday after being dumped from an automobile near the Oakland Naval Supply Depot.

His eye was blackened, his clothes torn—and his wallet missing. However, the thief left him $150 in cash, his travel orders and train tickets for today's scheduled trip to Lawrence Hanscon Air Force Base at Bedford, Mass.

Better Traps Needed

Concord, N. H. (AP) — Bigger and better mouse traps was the plea at a recent Governor's Council meeting. State Fish and Game Department officials told the executive group "mouse damage" totalled $243.95 at their experimental apple orchard at Gilford. The mice eat bark at the base of the trees causing the saplings to die, officials explained. "Mouse guards" will be used in future experimental projects, the F&G man said.

Former Nazi Minister Released From Prison

Berlin, Nov. 6 (AP)—Konstantin von Neurath, former Nazi foreign minister was released today from the Spandau war crimes prison in West Berlin.

Governor of Czechoslovakia during the Nazi occupation, von Neurath was the first Hitler's lieutenants to win freedom from the four-power jail set up for those who escaped the hangman at the 1946 Neurnberg war crimes trials.

Von Neurath is half blind and suffering from a heart ailment. He walked out of the grim prison into the arms of his daughter, Frau Winifred von Mackensen. They entered an automobile and drove away as a small crowd of curious bystanders peered from the sidewalks.

The release of von Neurath was suggested Wednesday by the Russians after the Kremlin had ignored similar approaches by the Western powers.

Practical Superstition

Philadelphia (AP) — That old superstition about not going under a ladder might have some practical applications. Ask Henry Jackson or Jesse Culver. Jackson fell two stories while painting a house. Culver, his employer, standing on the ground, was struck by Jackson and the ladder. Culver told police two girls on a bicycle rode under the ladder Jackson was using and jarred it loose. Both men were treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

Easy Move

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Here's one way to "leave town." Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Volkmer petitioned to have their residence, located at the edge of the village of Waverly, Neb., de-annexed from the village. They contended the property was an "isolated extension" of the city limits and that they were paying village taxes without deriving village benefits. The Waverly Board of Trustees and Lancaster District Judge Harry R. Ankeny approved.

Two Candidates Pay $150 Traffic Fines

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The American Labor party's candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor in Tuesday's election each paid $150 in fines yesterday in Traffic Court.

John T. McManus, 50, ALP gubernatorial candidate, pleaded guilty to three charges and innocent to two others on parking summonses dating back to 1952.

McManus was released in $75 bail for trial Nov. 15 on the two charges to which he pleaded innocent.

Karen Morley, 44-year-old actress and McManus' running mate on the ALP ticket, pleaded guilty to three summonses charging parking violations.

Magistrate James E. Lo Piccolo commented that the pair "ought" to get jail terms and added:

"However, you might welcome that, feeling that I am making martyrs of you."

The ALP polled about 45,000 votes in the unofficial tally of Tuesday's election.

Hearing Awaits Demand

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Agriculture Department plans no hearing on New York state dairymen's problems unless there is a heavy, statewide demand for it. Department sources expressed the view yesterday in announcing rejection of a request of a group of New York dairymen for a hearing on their proposals for improving the industry's economic condition. The group was headed by Bartly Beach of Schenevus, N. Y., who said the proposals were drafted at a meeting of about 1,500 milk producers last month in Oneonta.

The heavy loss was reported yesterday in the auto firm's report to stockholders on operations for the first nine months of 1954. It was the second time in Chrysler history the company sustained a quarterly loss. It will bring dividend payments this year to a total of $4.50 a share compared to $6 paid in 1953. Chrysler's net earnings for the first nine months of the year were $3,724,383. Two Candidates Pay $150 Traffic Fines

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The American Labor party's candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor in Tuesday's election each paid $150 in fines yesterday in Traffic Court.

John T. McManus, 50, ALP gubernatorial candidate, pleaded guilty to three charges and innocent to two others on parking summonses dating back to 1952.

McManus was released in $75 bail for trial Nov. 15 on the two charges to which he pleaded innocent.

Karen Morley, 44-year-old actress and McManus' running mate on the ALP ticket, pleaded guilty to three summonses charging parking violations.

Magistrate James E. Lo Piccolo commented that the pair "ought" to get jail terms and added:

"However, you might welcome that, feeling that I am making martyrs of you."

The ALP polled about 45,000 votes in the unofficial tally of Tuesday's election.

Hearing Awaits Demand

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Agriculture Department plans no hearing on New York state dairymen's problems unless there is a heavy, statewide demand for it. Department sources expressed the view yesterday in announcing rejection of a request of a group of New York dairymen for a hearing on their proposals for improving the industry's economic condition. The group was headed by Bartly Beach of Schenevus, N. Y., who said the proposals were drafted at a meeting of about 1,500 milk producers last month in Oneonta.

STARTING TO BUILD?
THEN INSURE TODAY....
Anybody who starts to build anything should get "builders risk" insurance the day he starts.
It protects you against loss of a partially built building by fire or lightning. A workman's torch, a loiterer's cigarette, a brush fire or a bolt of lightning may wipe you out before you even get started.
And, though you have a bona fide contractor who has provided for payment of employees' compensation, you should also have liability insurance to protect you against accidents to members of the public.
